Mayor Orders Police Checkup

By LYNN ZERSCHLING and GORDON WINTERS

Star Staff Writers Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf has made the first formal request since 1972 for an investigation into citizen complaints against Lincoln police officers.

Two executive orders from Schwartzkopf, dated Wednesday, have been filed with the city clerk, asking acting Police Chief Dale Adams to investigate personnel complaints filed in two separate cases by Harvey Little Thunder and William McKinney.

The complaint filed by Little Thunder claims that his son Steeven, 24, was beaten by two police officers on March 20 during his arrest for intoxication.

The complaint filed by McKinney claims the police have harassed him by stopping him repeatedly in connection with the beating and robbey of a man at a downtown hotel.

Taxi Said Stopped McKinney charged that police have gone so far as to stop a taxi in which he was riding to question him. Schwartzkopf said Thursday his request for an investigation is not unusual. The mayor noted he has asked the police to investigate similar complaints against themselves at least ten times during the past year. Those complaints however, have not been made public because the mayor did not file executive orders with the city clerk. Schwartzkopf said Thursday that the filing of the latest two orders was "just routine procedure" that will assist in recordkeeping. Records Thought Kept He said he thought the City Law Department had been keeping records of all such complaints lodged by citizens against the police. The mayor has now learned, he said, that no such records have been kept. The upcoming election for mayor, Schwartzkopf said, had nothing to do with his change in procedure. He is facing City Council President Helen Boosalis and former social worker Jo Doris Bragg in the

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford plans to take several days to decide whether to sign or veto the $24.8 billion tax cut bill, White House Press Secretary

Ron Nessen said Thursday. While emphasizing that Ford has not made a decision on whether to sign or veto the legislation, Nessen said Ford has serious concerns about the bill. Ford met with his economic policy board Thursday afternoon to begin reviewing the bill. The measure was passed by the House and Senate on Wednesday before they adjourned for a 10-day Easter recess. Major provisions of the bill include: -Tax rebates averaging 10 per cent of 1974 taxes paid, up to a maximum rebate

-A $30-per-person tax credit on 1975 income taxes.

-Increases in standard deductions, the deductions taken by persons who do not itemize tax-deductible expenses.

-Repeal of the oil depletion allowance for major oil companies. -An increase in the investment tax credit to 10 per cent. The tax credit currently is 4 per cent for utilities, 7 per cent for other companies.

Nessen told reporters the President has noted that the bill contains some "farreaching provisions," including repeal of the oil depletion allowance, on which no hearings were held in Congress.

Nessen did not specify which provisions Ford was concerned about, but Ford is known to oppose the repeal of the depletion allowance. Nessen said Ford wants his own advisers to calculate what they think the tax cut adds up to before he decides whether to sign it.

Ford wanted a tax cut of $16 billion to $20 billion and pressured Congress to keep to that figure.

House Minority Leader John Rhodes of Arizona, who talked with Ford after the House-Senate conferees finished work on the tax bill Wednesday, predicted that Ford would veto it.

Rhodes said again Thursday in Phoenix that Ford probably will veto the bill. "I would say that there is a very good chance that the House would sustain his veto," Rhodes added.

He also indicated that the President was reconsidering the whole idea of a tax cut.

But Nessen said Thursday that the President 'stands by his original belief that the country needs an antirecession tax cut.'

Nessen also said that Ford believes the House would sustain a veto of the bill.

"We have not made any judgments," Ford's chief economic adviser, William Stedman, said Thursday after holding preliminary meetings of Ford's Economic Policy Advisers on provisions of the bill.

The Office of Management and Budget estimated, meanwhile, that the tax cut year's federal budget deficit. The bill would increase next year's expected $55.5 billion deficit, at least $60 billion, the OMB said.

In addition, OMB said another $1.7 billion would be added to the deficit for either this year or next because of a speed up in federal payments to Social Security

The budget year affected by the speedup would depend on what month the Treasury gets the checks out.

President Ford had urged Congress to get him a tax cut bill before it began the Easter recess. Congress acted just before midnight Wednesday, with the House voting 287-125 and the Senate 45-16 to pass the bill.

The lawmakers then adjourned for their 10-day recess but Ford left his plans for an Easter vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., up in the air while he studied the

If Ford does sign the measures, taxpayers would begin receiving rebate checks within 45 days, an Internal Revenue Service spokesman estimated. If Ford signs it by April 1, the first of the 60 million rebate tax checks could be sent as early as May 15 and all of them would be in the mail by June 30, the IRS

The rebate on 1974 taxes would range between $100 and $200 for most taxpayers. Those who paid less than $100 in taxes would have their entire tax refunded. On the question of a possible veto, Sen.

Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said it would be a "very bad mistake" for the President to kill the bill. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said "the President should be overjoyed" at how the bill turned out. Ullman, who played a major role in shaping the bill. said he thought Ford would sign it. But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said

Ford might be tempted to veto the bill because of the way a key House vote went during preliminary maneuvers Wednesday night. That was the vote of 214-197 by which the House rejected a motion to return the bill to the House-Senate conferees.

The margin was far too small to override a veto and indicated there might bill, to help sustain a veto should Ford decide he could not sign the bill.

Blizzard Buries West; Tornado Slaps Omaha

By MAXINE WOLF Star Staff Writer

While a giant spring blizzard raged throughout Thursday in the western and north central portions of Nebraska, a funnel cloud dipped down on the far western suburbs of Omaha about 5:45 p.m., injuring at least two persons.

And at least four persons were reported missing as the second major snowstorm of the week completely paralyzed the entire Panhandle and parts of northern Nebraska.

All highways were blocked by late Thursday afternoon west of a line from Imperial to North Platte to Ainsworth, according to the State Department of Roads, after winds up to 60 miles per hour whipped the snow into drifts as high as 12 feet on ranch land in the Alliance area.

Guard Mobilized Earlier in the day, Gov. J. James Exon authorized National Guard assistance in the blizzard area. Units were mobilized at Ogallala, Alliance and Scottsbluff, spots where numerous motorists were stranded. Although the National Weather Service dropped its winter storm watch for the eastern part of the state about midafternoon when the storm center - then located between North Platte and Broken Bow — began drifting slowly on a northnortheasterly track, forecasters hastily placed western Douglas and Washington Counties under a tornado warning after a funnel cloud touched down near 150th and Z Sts. in Omaha. The Associated Press said at least two persons were taken to an Omaha hospital by rescue squad after the cloud demolished the T. A. Zahm home in the Stoneybrook area. However, the injuries were not believed to be serious.

Down 3 Minutes

A number of other homes in the Stoneybrook area were also damaged. Residents there said the cloud stayed on the ground for about three minutes before withdrawing to the clouds as it passed over Boys Town.

Meanwhile, in the hard struck blizzard area, a Gordon man identified only as Bob Morris was missing after failing to arrive in Gordon on a trip from Valentine. Morris began the trip of about 100 miles late Wednesday night. An Alliance couple, Mr. and Mrs. Mark

Bennett, who left Ellsworth for Alliance Wednesday night, had also not been heard from.

In addition, a Minatare-area farmer, Kenneth Burr, who was driving a farm truck had not been seen since Wednesday night.

By late Thursday afternoon, Interstate 80 was closed by the State Patrol west of North Platte as zero visibility and drifting snow made driving conditions extremely hazardous. According to Civil Defense officials, at least 40 persons were stranded on the Interstate between Ogallala and Big Springs. Harrison in extreme northwestern Nebraska reported 12 inches of new snow, extensive drifting and zero visibility. "Everything is shut down," Sioux County Sheriff Tom Broderick told The Star. Chadron and Whitney, located east of Harrison, both received 10 inches of new snow. At Ogallala, where six to eight foot drifts resulted from near 10 inches of snow, electrical power was out in parts of the residential areas for about 31/2 hours during the afternoon. People Rescued The Keith County sheriff's office at Ogallala said National Guardsmen were transporting trailer court residents and stranded motorists to the National Guard Armory and private homes at the height of the storm Thursday.

A rural Bayard man died from a heart attack at his farm home, United Press International reported. The Bayard rescue unit en route to the home turned back after two snowplows became stuck in the snow. Panhandle ranchers feared extensive cattle losses, and Wally Wallison of Angora added, "The cattle out in the pastures who couldn't get to sheltered areas when this storm hit are in bad

Eight to 10 inches of snow fell in the Valentine area of northern Nebraska, according to the Cherry County sheriff's office. Zero visibility, and drifting snow made it impossible for movement of any kind in the area, it was reported late Thursday night.

Drifted Too Fast Snowplow crews made attempts to clear highways in the storm area during the day, but in vain, according to the State Department of Roads. High winds caused the roads to drift shut as soon as they were opened, a spokesman said.

Those who make up our Easter congregations each year are in the service of worship for various reasons. Some are there because an inspiring church service has become a traditional part of our American Easter observance. To such persons the service may actually mean very little. Others are present because they would like to maintain at least an appearance of some connection with the church. Since they do not intend to be present regularly, they come at Easter as a sort of token evidence of a meaningless relationship. One would like to think that most of those in the service are there because they recognize that in our troubled, confused, perilous world there is a hope for humanity in the person of Christ and the Gospel which he came to proclaim.

Mayor Orders Police Checkup

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf has made the first formal request since 1972 for an investigation into citizen complaints against Lincoln police officers.

Ford Ponders Veto

Ford plans to take several days to decide whether to sign or veto the $24.8 billion tax cut bill, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday

While emphasizing that Ford has not made a decision on whether to sign or veto the legislation, Nessen said Ford has serious concerns about the bill.

Holy Week HOXX

Easter—Faith In Action (EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of Holy Week articles prepared for The Star by local clergymen.)

By REV. HAROLD E. HAMILTON First Lutheran Church

Those who make up our Easter congregations each year are in the service of worship for various reasons. Some are there because an inspiring church service has become a -traditional part of our American Easter observance. To such persons the service may actually mean very

Others are present because they would like to maintain at least an appearance of some connection with the church. Since they do not intend to be present regularly, they come at Easter as a sort of token evidence of a meaningless relationship. One would like to think that most of those in the service are there because they recognize that in our troubled, confused, perilous world there is a hope for humanity in the person of Christ and the Gospel which he came to proclaim.

We are surrounded by all kinds of knowledge. We know how to do everything in the world except one thing, and that is how to live. The terrible state of the world today is sufficient proof that men do not know how to live intelligently and construc-

In the midst of all our confusion and anxiety, we hear Jesus saying, "I am the resurrection and the life." For many of us He is not only our only hope for life beyond the grave, He is also our only source of life as it should be lived here and now.

Unless we learn how to create proper relationship between Easter and everyday living, we are going to miss much of its true significance and its genuine possibilities. Eternal life in the New Testament is not primarily an extension of the life we now enjoy beyond the inevitable grave, but primarily a quality of life here and now. Such a life is no accident. It cannot be achieved by wishful thinking, but is a result of the life of Christ in us. If it is to be maintained it must have its roots in several vital experiences. First of all there must be spiritual nourishment. If one is to attain a robust spiritual stature, he must acquire the ability to reserve sufficient time and give thought to those experiences which give nourishment to the human spirit. Second, the Christian life requires intellectual enrichment. When one studies the message of Jesus, he is impressed with the fact that He was constantly seeking to establish a reasonable

The Gospel which Jesus came to share with men has social implications. As Christians we rejoice in the good news of the resurrection of Christ not only because of what it tells us concerning Christ or > cerning life for us in the strategic hour of the world's history inwhich we are living. In order for the resurrection to have its full meaning in the Christian's life, it must be a constantly unfolding experience, producing in those who share it the fruits of God's Spirit.

Foes Form Committee

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) -Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and other opposition politicans formed a committee Thursday to ask President Nguyen Van Thieu to give up his powers because of the military crisis.

The move was announced as North Vietnamese forces drove east and south along the central coast and American planes airlifted panicky refugees from the isolated northern stronghold of Da Nang further south to Nha Trang and to Saigon.

"We request President Thieu delegate full powers to a new government of new personalities with new policies effective for the national salvation," a spokesman for the new group said in Saigon.

The formation of the group, the Action Committee for National Salvation, followed the arrest earlier in the day of seven politicians affiliated with Ky who were accused of plotting to overthrow the government. But Ky denied he was planning a coup.

Three-hundred miles northeast of Saigon, the North Vietnamese overran the district capital of Tam Quan after a sevenhour assault, the Saigon command said.

Tam Quan is on the coast of Binh Dinh Province 120 miles southeast of Da Nang.

The command also reported heavy attacks on at least three other government positions in Binh Dinh Province, including Binh Khe, a district capital 25 miles inland from Qui Nhon, which is South Vietnam's third largest city.

The Communists, already in control of the central highlands and the five provinces in the northern part of South Vietnam, now appear to be opening a new front on the central coastal strip, the last remaining government territory in the upper half of the country.

In Da Nang, thousands of refugees scrambled and fought to board overloaded planes to escape the beleaguered city on the second day of the U.S. airlift. Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, is the government's last remaining bastion on the northern coast.

Military police fired shots over the heads of crowds of people lacking proper identification who were massing at Da Nang airport hoping to make their way through a traffic-clogged highway and over rolls of barbed wire.

In other Indochina developments:

-Cambodian government warplanes and artillery concentrated their fire against U.S.-made howitzers that shelled Phnom Penh airport, killing 13 persons and wounding 25. Military sources said the howitzers may have been knocked out. But the ground effort against the rebel "rocket belt" stalled as two battalions of government troops refused to attack on grounds they lacked leadership and food, field reports said.

-Representatives of the U.S. and Thai governments met in Bangkok to plan for a scheduled withdrawal of the remaining U.S. forces and aircraft from Thailand within a year. It was the first such meeting since Premier Kukrit Pramoj announced a one-year target for the withdrawal of 25,000 U.S. servicemen and 350 aircraft stationed at Thai bases. Details were not given.

-The World Council of Churches in Geneva appealed to church agencies and relief services throughout the world to contribute $1 million to help the estimated one million refugees in South Vietnam.

Ford Seems To Chide Israel For Rigid Policy

Che New york Eimes

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN

Washington - President Ford said in an interview made public Thursday that if Israel had shown more flexibility in the recent negotiations for a new accord with Egypt, the chances for a Middle East peace would have been enhanced.

Stopping short of actually blaming Israel for the collapse of the latest Mideast mediation efforts of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Ford nevertheless seemed to chide Israel for its refusal to give up strategic Sinai Mountain passes for Egyptian security pledges that constituted less than a nonbelligerency statement.

The interview was conducted Monday afternoon by William Randolph Hearst Jr. and other Hearst newspapers newsmen and released

It occurred less than 24 hours after Kissinger had returned to Washington and had briefed Ford on the causes of the breakdown.

Publicly, Kissinger has said no blame should be assessed, but privately he had indicated vexation with Israel's position, and Ford seemed to echo those private views.

Asked, "Do you think that Israel should be prepared to take greater risks for peace in the long-term interests of its survival?" Ford replied:

developments of the last 72 hours (the collapse of the negotiations).

"If they had been a bit more flexible, you can say a greater risk, I think in the longer run it would have been the best insurance for peace."

"I think those kind of actions would have been real insurance for peace in the short-haul as well as in the long pull," Ford said.

Ford — as Kissinger did in a news conference Wednesday - stressed the importance for the United States to make a reassessment of its Middle East policy since the potential for war in the Middle East had increased because of the breakdowit in talks.

The President's comments added to a general sense of ambiguity in Washington about the administration's analysis of the breakdown in the Officially, the administration had refused to fix blame on either Egypt or Israel and Wednesday Kissinger said this "was not the time to assess blame between the parties or to indulge in recrimination.'

But while not wishing to attach responsibility publicly for the collapse of the talks, Kissinger on the way home from the Middle East Sunday left the impression with newsmen that Israel had been shortsighted in not going further in making

Rockefeller Meets Arab Leaders, Has Hopes For Peace Progress

By The Associated Press

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller emerged Thursday from meetings with leaders of Saudi Arabia and Egypt voicing hopes for progress toward a Middle East peace.

Talking to newsmen aboard Air Force 2 as he flew from Saudi Arabia toward Washington. Rockefeller rejected suggestions that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's "shuttle diplomacy" in the Mideast has been a failure.

Rockefeller said that contrary to his expectations he did not find in talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadar and the new king and crown prince of Saudi Arabia "a deep sense of pessimism and disillusion because of the breakdown" last week of Kissinger's search for a fresh Israeli-Egyptian agreement.

Rather, he reported, "all of them, I think, felt a sense of urgency that this is an auspicious time" to make progress toward peace "if only the United States preserves the position of leadership" in acting as a mediator.

Asked if he meant to suggest the Arab leaders he met preferred to deal with Kissinger as mediator rather than face Israel at a Geneva conference at which the Soviet Union would act as cochairman, the vice president said, "I didn't mean to put it that way '

But he quickly added, and stated at still another point. "there is a faith in the U.S. President and secretary of state" among those with whom he

The vice president suggested the positive tone he found reflected an Arab-Israeli balance of power and "acceptance of realities."

Rockefeller spent more than seven hours in the fast-growing, desert-rimmed Saudi capital, shuttling between palaces and conferring with Sadat, King Khaled and Crown Prince Fahd.

Rockefeller said that if something is not done about peace in the Middle East, the results could be dissension, disruption and war, "not just for the Middle East but on a larger scale." He suggested those he met with in Rivadh shared that foreboding and are motivated toward seeking a peaceful settlement because of it. Prince Fahd, viewed by many as the key power figure in Riyahd, had assured him that the Saudi government would continue it efforts to expand cooperation with the United States

While a government economist said it was too soon to tell whether the rise in the economic indicators was a definite signal of economic recovery, the trade balance surplus was some of the best news in months for the embattled U.S.

Beware Of Bargain Beauty

The estimated $1.9 million price tag for the downtown O St. beautification project "is a lot of money for beauty," said City Council candidate Bob Muggy this

While agreeing that Lincoln must have a strong downtown, Muggy said the public should not be expected to foot the bill for beautifying O St.

If Lincoln is to embark on a realistic program of keeping its central business district vital and attractive, generous public funding is a foregone conclusion.

A responsible candidate for office cannot simply "agree" that the city must have a strong downtown.

If we understand Muggy correctly, he also believes that the neighborhood redevelopment efforts should be stepped up. Of course they should, and they are being stepped up and that effort, too, is coming or will come largely from public money through the federal government. We shouldn't quibble about public sources of money — whether federal or city treasury — because ultimately it all comes from the same well.

But the candidate's statement about paying "a lot of money for beauty" is what really caught our eye.

Naturally you pay a lot for beauty. High quality, classy items are not found in the bargain basement. What you pay is what you get. We hope that a majority of Lincolnites won't settle for public investments in cheap, second-rate improvement programs.

We had hoped that the O St. beautification project would not become a major campaign issue because of the tendency for candidates for office to preach false economy and to try to out-cheap each other. We weren't wrong about the tendency. It is there.

But perhaps it is only natural that the project has become an issue.

Now we should be able to tell, if this line of talk is carried on by the other candidates, who has pride in Lincoln and who doesn't; who has vision, and who doesn't; who believes in preventive measures against urban decay and who doesn't; who believes that city government needs to take a strong hand in the efforts to preserve and build vital core areas or who believes that city government should sit back and let Lincoln go the downhill way of thousands of sorry excuses for cities across the coun-

This is a magnificent city and it is so not because the leadership in its developing years was timid and small-minded, but because they had a vision of building a first-rate city. We should remain true to that heritage and candidates who would remain true to it merit the public's support and appreciation. The others do not.

Years More Tarnished Than 'Golden'

Do the old really consider retirement "the golden years"? Hardly. The aging resist labels of all kinds, but the adjective "golden" is particularly inappropriate because it carries implications of wealth and beauty which - most elderly feel have slipped from their grasp.

"In general, old people in the United States tend to hold negative views toward aging, toward themselves, and toward life in general," says James D. Manney Jr., editor of a gerontological study titled, "Aging in American Society" (published by the University of Michigan). They suspect that the young, who bestow labels upon the old, consider the aged "backward, old-fashioned and mentally in-

In reality, the young don't feel that strongly about the old. "The young, at best, are simply indifferent," the study shows. -

In other lands - the Far East, South America, many sections of Europe - the elderly are respected and admired. But American youth tend to shunt their elders aside, as though they were nuisances or unaesthetic inconveniences.

And this is devastating because "a key aspect of successful adjustment to aging involves attitudes," says Manney: "young people's attitudes toward the old, and the old person's attitudes toward himself," which depend greatly on the attitudes of society.

While the young feel indifference or pity for the aged, the aged care deeply what the young think of them. In the study, a group of people was asked to complete the sentence, "In general, older people

The young answered "assistance" or "help."

But the old people more often replied "positive response from others.'

To complete the phrase "old people tend to resent . . . ", young people answered "Young people." But the old said they resented "lack of concern." "resentment" and "reference to age."

I hear some former government employes pour it on about their huge pension plan, plus high Social Security. I have worked many holidays, even Christmas when I longed to be with my loved ones. During the war I did my patriotic duty and worked for the government at low pay for four years. I had the best of references and there was an opening for a postal clerk in a village of 200 when I was caring for my aged father. I applied and was told that my references were the best - that only one thing was wrong, my politics.

I think all government workers are overpaid for the time they put in, considering holidays off, long weekends, etc. They sure rub it in and I am getting sick of it.

Maybe there will be a reward in heaven for an old employe who worked for low pay in the medical field for many years. OLD AND CRIPPLED

Time For Ford To Act

Overall, the $24.8 billion tax cut package approved by Congress just before Easter recess ends up a plus by our evaluation. Although, we also believe that such a gigantic tax cut is a gamble and there is the very real possibility that it could end up as anything from a fruitless endeavor to a devastating folly, if it does not work as an anti-recession measure and instead only fuels inflation's fires.

We further observe:

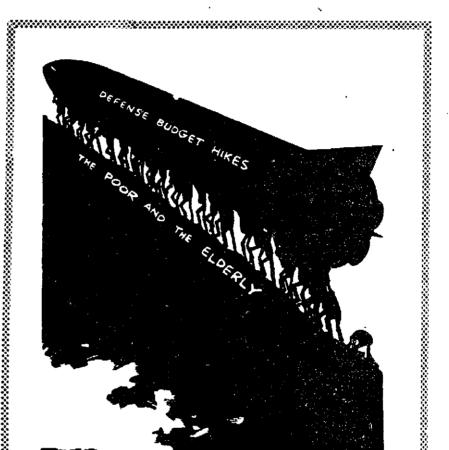

—The President should sign this bill, not veto it, even if he has sound reasons for vetoing on the grounds of the much bigger deficit it would produce. His smaller tax cut proposal was too weak to be a workable recession remedy. The Senate's $33 billion cut was wildly extravagant. This bill represents a compromise that the House and Senate can live with and President Ford better decide to live with it too, because to veto it would mean a confrontation with Congress and further delay. Politically speaking, a tax cut is inevitable.

The present bill seems the best route. Delay would be counterproductive and any tax cut approved later on in the year would probably have lost its potency as a medicine to stimulate the economy and

Student's Remarks Unfair, Inaccurate

This letter is written in reply to the University of Nebraska student whose scathing criticism of the university faculty was printed in this clumn on Saturday, March 1, 1975. The student, who did not sign his/her name, described university professors as lazy and accused them of the gross neglect of their professional responsibilities. The student's letter ended by suggesting a mandatory 40-hour week for university teachers. These remarks were, in my opinion, extremely unfair and entirely inaccurate when applied to the vast majority of the university's faculty members.

Admittedly I am writing for a somewhat prejudiced point of view; both of my parents are university professors. However, I also speak from six years of personal experience as a university student (I am now a third-year law student at UNL). In addition I believe that my position as a "professor's kid" has given me a unique opportunity to observe first-hand just exactly what it is that university teachers do.

It is true that most university faculty members do not put in an eight-to-five day Monday through Friday. Their hours and their weeks are considerably longer. I have on many occasions seen my mother grading exam papers or homework assignments at two in the morning so that she could return them the next day as she had promised her students she would. My father frequently spends his Saturdays and even his Christmas "vacations" reading term papers, theses and dissertations. Both my parents have put in time, often after five o'clock, in their offices discussing academic or personal problems with troubled students. And both have had their dinners interrupted by phone calls from students whose urgent and sometimes less-thanurgent questions just couldn't wait until "regular" hours.

As for the leisurely summer vacations which the student suggested most faculty members enjoy, I would like to dispel that myth here and now. A nine-months' salary simply doesn't stretch very well over a twelve-months' period of time. As a result, my father spends his three-month "holiday" teaching summer school — some vacation!

Furthermore, in addition to their teaching duties, university professors are expected to publish frequently in professional journals and to keep up with recent developments in their particular fields. These extra burdens require faculty members to devote still more time to their jobs. A 40-hour week? - my parents would love it! It would probably cut between 10 and 20 hours of working time off their present week.

All of this should not imply that my parents and indeed most other university professors do not enjoy their jobs. However, when a letter like the one printed March 1 appears in a local newspaper, ALL university professors suffer as a result of the inaccurate picture presented to the community.

I hope that I have corrected any false impressions left by the student's letter. The overwhelming majority of the university's faculty members are serious and dedicated individuals, interested in teaching excellence and in their students. Beware Of Bargain Beauty

The estimated $1.9 million price tag for the downtown O St. beautification project "is a lot of money for beauty," said City Council candidate Bob Muggy this week.

While agreeing that Lincoln must have a strong downtown, Muggy said the public should not be expected to foot the bill for beautifying O St.

If Lincoln is to embark on a realistic program of keeping its central business district vital and attractive, generous public funding is a foregone conclusion.

A responsible candidate for office cannot simply "agree" that the city must have a strong downtown.

If we understand Muggy correctly, he also believes that the neighborhood redevelopment efforts should be stepped up. Of course they should, and they are being stepped up and that effort, too, is coming or will come largely from public money through the federal government. We shouldn't quibble about public sources of money - whether federal or city treasury - because ultimately it all comes from the same well.

But the candidate's statement about paying "a lot of money for beauty" is what really caught our eye.

Naturally you pay a lot for beauty. High quality, classy items are not found in the bargain basement. What you pay is what you get. We hope that a majority of Lincolnites won't settle for public investments in cheap, second-rate improvement programs.

We had hoped that the O St. beautification project would not become a major campaign issue because of the tendency for candidates for office to preach false economy and to try to out-cheap each other. We weren't wrong about the tendency. It is there.

But perhaps it is only natural that the project has become an issue.

Now we should be able to tell, if this line of talk is carried on by the other candidates, who has pride in Lincoln and who doesn't; who has vision, and who doesn't; who believes in preventive measures against urban decay and who doesn't; who believes that city government needs to take a strong hand in the efforts to preserve and build vital core areas or who believes that city government should sit back and let Lincoln go the downhill way of thousands of sorry excuses for cities across the coun-

This is a magnificent city and it is so not because the leadership in its developing years was timid and small-minded, but because they had a vision of building a first-rate city. We should remain true to that heritage and candidates who would remain true to it merit the public's support and appreciation. The others do not.

Years More Tarnished Than 'Golden'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK - Do elderly people feel honored to be referred to as "senior citizens"?

No. They do not particularly want to be reminded that they are in a categorized citizenry. Do the old really consider retirement "the golden years"? Hardly. The aging resist labels of all kinds, but the adjective "golden" is particularly inappropriate because it carries implications of wealth and beauty which - most elderly feel have slipped from their grasp.

"In general, old people in the United States tend to hold negative views toward aging, toward themselves, and toward life in general," says James D. Manney Jr., editor of a gerontological study titled, "Aging in American Society" (published by the University of Michigan). They suspect that the young, who bestow labels upon the old, consider the aged "backward, old-fashioned and mentally in-

In reality, the young don't feel that strongly about the old. "The young, at best, are simply indifferent," the study shows. 公 公 公

In other lands — the Far East. South America, many sections of Europe - the elderly are respected and admired. But American youth tend to shunt

their elders aside, as though they were nuisances or unaesthetic inconveniences.

And this is devastating because "a key aspect of successful adjustment to aging involves attitudes," says Manney: "young people's attitudes toward the old, and the old person's attitudes toward himself," which depend greatly on the attitudes of society.

While the young feel indifference or pity for the aged, the aged care deeply what the young think of them. In the study, a group of people was asked to complete the sentence, "In general, older people need . . . "

The young answered "assistance" or "help."

But the old people more often replied "positive response from others.

To complete the phrase "old people tend to resent , young people answered "Young people." But the old said they resented "lack of concern," "resentment" and "reference to

Experts Predict Drop In British Petrol Earnings

LONDON (AP) - Earnings of both British Petroleum Co. (BP) and the Royal Dutch Shell Group are expected to fall in 1975, continuing the trend of lower fourth quarter 1974 profits, W Greenwell and Co., a London stockbrokerage, says. In a study, Greenwell says British Petroleum's "net income will be most severely depressed in 1975 since it is dependent on product sales outside North America and on third-party crude sales.'

The firm says "Shell's net income should be sustained by its North American and natural gas interests."

Greenwell said BP's earnings per-share might fall to about 98 cents in 1975 from about $3.10 last year while those of Shell Transport and Trading Co. might fall to $1.27 in 1975 from about $2:04 last year.

Episcopal Priest Put Arts In School

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, Conn. (AP) Combining the arts with a secondary school education was a new approach when the Rev. Willoughby Newton, 49, instituted the program in the early '60s at Wykeham Rise, a girls' school. But the success of the program has led him to what may be the ultimate in secondary school education, a precollege, preprofessional program in the arts at the school, which is coordinated with Gunnery, a long-established boys' school nearby.

Training includes interaction with outstanding professional schools — Juilliard, the Manhattan School of Music - and teachers with professional stature - Robby Barnett of the Pilobolus Dance Theater teaches several days a week; Arthur Sherman will be artist-in-residence, a post held last year by actress June Havoc. Yehudi Menuhin, Lillian Gish, William Styron, Fredric March, Robert Anderson and others are involved in a seminar series.

The tall, handsome, unmarried Episcopalian priest and headmaster whose mother is "kissin' čousin" to Lady Astor explained that he had felt "the wrong sort of training would be discouraging and time-con-suming, a waste." The school's original art program had been instituted because he was concerned that young people going off to college "really had no place to go" and he felt "the arts are a real gate to education — helping to make learning pleasurable.

"It was just after Sputnik and there was tremendous academic pressure to do well, to get into a good college, to get plenty of math and science under your belt. I thought it was

He still thinks so, especially, he says, when he compares his salary with that of toll collectors on a nearby thruway they make exactly the same. "I am not saying they are over-paid, but I believe I may be underpaid."

Virginia-born, he was educated at the University of Virginia and at Cambridge. He believes in liberal arts because "it deepens the mind and broadens the spirit, but you must have some place to go with it," he emphasized. In the past five years people have begun to question its streng and he suspects it is because colleges have got off the track.

"I believe in pure undiluted liberal arts, but in English, some schools feel anything

Teamster Chief Pleads Guilty To Tax Evasion

Baltimore (AP) - William C. Moore, chief of the political arm. of the Teamsters Union, has pleaded guilty to a federal tax evasion charge involving the alleged embezzlement of union funds

U.S. District Court Judge C. Stanley Blair accepted the plea and sentenced Moore to two years imprisonment, suspending all but six months of the term. Blair also placed Moore on three years probation to be served after his release from jail.

Moore pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to report some $30,000 income in 1970. The government alleged that the money was part of some $90,000 Moore embezzled between 1968 and 1970 from DRIVE, the Teamsters' political unit which he headed.

DRIVE stands for Democrat, Republican, Independent Voter Education.

Asst. U.S. Attorney Jeffrey White said federal prosecutors here would look into the possibility that an affadavit used in the case from James R. Hoffa, former Teamsters' president, may contain false information.

pound At this size, the female has just become reproductive for the first time and may produce a maximum of 5,000 eggs. The low survival rate of the larvae, the majority of which are washed ashore or eaten by fish and sea birds, rules out a natural increase in the lobster production.

Expanding on earlier experiments in lobster mating at the Massachusetts lobster hatchery on Martha's Vineyard, Shleser demonstrated that in a controlled environment lobsters could be raised to maturity in just two years. This compares with the five to eight years it takes a lobster to mature in the open sea. In time, Shleser believes, he and his team will be able to raise marketable lobsters in slightly more than one year.

At first, Shleser had to pay for his experiments partly out of his own pocket. Today his research is sponsored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the U.S. Commerce Department.

In recent months, Shleser reported progress in obtaining an 80% survival rate for lobsters through the larval period, or roughly the first month, reducing cannibalism, developing a more cost-effective feed and, for the first time ever, mating lobsters which are native to the East Coast in controlled conditions on the West Coast. In some areas where acute air pollution problems once existed. people today are breathing easier — literally — as a result of efforts to clean the state's air.

Certain Bellevue residents no longer leave their homes for work in the morning to find their cars covered by a coat of ashes from the nearby Kramer Power Station.

residents no longer see smoke welfare. billowing regularly from the city's landfill.

Clean-Up Milestone

This progress and more has occurred in anticipation of one date: July 31, 1975. That date will mark the first milestone in the clean-up of Nebraska's environment.

It is the day the Lincoln and Omaha metropolitan regions must meet air quality standards

(Air clean-up efforts in outstate regions got started a year late, so they have until July 31, 1976 to meet standards.)

Some urban centers across the country reportedly aren't going to meet that deadline.

Omaha, for one, has seen its air quality improve but not enough in some neighborhoods. State air pollution chief Gene Robinson expects the Omaha area will be designated a borne ash and dust (called particulates). Up To Standards

In Lincoln, the air quality will meet state and federal benchmarks for particulates, sulfur oxides, nitrogen oxides and ozone, officials believe.

Still there is one nagging problem to be tackled in Lincoln, the problem of carbon monoxide.

Lincoln's carbon monoxide level is just one of the tough decisions, perhaps tougher than those made so far, waiting to be made by air pollution officials. What has been accomplished in the Lincoln area so far?

An estimated $13 million is being spent to meet air quality standards, according to Gary Walsh, Lincoln-Lancaster air pollution officer.

The bulk of that expenditure — $8 million — is being spent to install a coal handler and an electrostatic precipitator for the removal of particulates from the stack gases at the Nebraska Public Power District's Sheldon Station near Hallam.

Compliance Schedule In January 1973, 15 problem sources of air pollution were put on so-called compliance schedules, a detailed progress report outlining step-by-step work on pollution controls. In addition, grain elevators at Waverly, Firth, Walton and 6th and G Sts. were put on compliance schedules in January of this year.

All of those, except the Sheldon Station, will meet the July deadline. The Sheldon Station has an extra two months the precipitator.

Besides those mentioned, the following plants have installed pollution controls or will by July 31: both Far-Mar-Co elevators, Lincoln Grain, Lincoln Feed and Grain, Gooch Milling, Archer-Daniels-Midland, Dobson Construction Co., the City of Lincoln's asphalt plant, the city sanitary landfill, Deeter Foundry, Northwestern Metals, Neiden Iron and Metal and the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Some industries, such as Goodyear and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln power plant, have been in compliance all along, according to Walsh.

"A lot was spent, but the results are starting to show up," Walsh said. Cooperation from industries has been good, both

Walsh and Robinson said. In Court Just Once

Only once has the State Department of Environmental Control (DEC) had to go to court to gain compliance. That instance involved the Corema smelting plant in Sarpy County. A study detected lead in the blood of children living near the Corema plant.

The plant was shut down for a time, but DEC attorney Richard Hansen said the plant has installed controls and recently resumed operations.

Nevertheless, not all sources are going to be in compliance. Lincoln Electric System's K

St. plant is presently the only plant in the state which violates sulfur dioxide standards, according to Robinson. In addition. Walsh said the plant contributes to the high particulate levels in the vicinity of the County-City Building.

LES has asked EPA to grant it an additional year to burn coal at the K St. plant for power and economic reasons; as yet, EPA has not acted.

Another problem in Lincoln stems from the 62 miles of unpaved residential streets in the city. In dry years like 1974, Walsh said unpaved streets contributed significiantly to particulate problems in Havelock and Bennet.

Unless the streets are paved, Walsh said, "I see no immediate solution to the problem."

Then there is the carbon monoxide problem; a sampler near 22nd and O Sts. showed levels exceeded standards on numerous occasions. For instance, in February 1974 the carbon monoxide standard was topped on 12 days.

Auto Responsible

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas which aggravates respiratory ailments and in sufficient concentrations in enclosed areas can kill. The main source of carbon monoxide is the automobile.

"Carbon monoxide levels in Lincoln are too high," Robinson said. "Regulations on it may be coming from the federal government.'

The Lincoln Star

Friday, March 28, 1975

To alleviate the problem, Walsh said the City Public Works Department is planning to synchronize stoplights on O St. and reduce the time cars are idling and create a smoother flow of traffic.

But due to the sheer volume of traffic carried on O St. Walsh said he fears synchronization of stoplights won't be enough. Ultimately, a control strategy may have to rely on diverting traffic to other streets.

Officials are generally reluctant to consider massive traffic control plans such as those considered for Boston or Los Angeles which involve small but numerous sources, such as cars and dirty streets.

Similar grand plans for social organization are contained in the new non-degradation regulation put out by EPA. Those rules require the state to designate zones according to air quality.

For instance, Zone 1 areas would have exceptionally clean air, such as the Ft. Robinson area, where no deterioration of air would be allowed. Then there is Zone 3, where industrial expansion would be permitted; Omaha would be an example.

Others would be designated Zone 2, areas where some deterioration would be per-

These more complex questions will be tackled as the environmental clean-up movement marks its first milestone this summer.

1. One notrump. It is rare not o raise partner at once with four-card trump support, but here it is better to suppress the raise in favor of the more illuminating rebid of a notrump.

This tells partner you opened with minimum values and a balanced hand, which is exactly what you are looking at Two diamonds would suggest distributional values - for example, five clubs, four diamonds and a singleton in one of the major suits - and would also be more forward-going The rebid of a notrump paints a far better picture of your actual

2. Three diamonds. Here you have better diamonds and. furthermore, values wel beyond a minimum opening bid Both these features are well expressed by the double raise The jump raise is not forcing and partner may pass, but in that case there is almost surely

An alternative bid of one spade is also available — to an enterprising player. There is considerable merit in such a call, as the all-around shape of the hand can be better described later on with a jump raise in diamonds. However, it is always dangerous to bid a three-card suit, for partner may be caught unawares, and run wild. But in a flexible part nership, a spade bid may easily turn out best. 3. Three notrump. You can't sensibly stop under game, and you shouldn't risk any bid that might leave you high and dry in an under-game contract

What sometimes happens in this situation is that the opening bidder jumps to two notrump or three clubs - neither of which is forcing — and screams bloody murder when his impoverished partner passes. It is far better to take the strain off partner by jumping directly to three notrump — investing in the trusty principle of bidding what you think you can make.

4. Two hearts. This is 100 per cent forcing, as it is a jumpshift. Game is extremely likely when you have 19 high-card points plus the facility to play for game in hearts, diamonds or clubs, as partner sees fit. Furthermore, partner does not need a great big hand for a slam to be made, and he should be informed of this delicious possibility right away.

DEAR ABBY I read in your column that a man had accidentally discovered in his friend's library some books which this friend had borrowed from him about 15 years before It reminded me of a saying I picked up in Argentina

DEAR BOULDER: You should have left that saying in Argentina. I don't agree that only a fool returns books he has borrowed. In English he would be called a "thief." And in Spanish, an "aprovechador."

DEAR ABBY: A little of the light has gone out of my life. My heart is heavy and I can't seem to turn my thoughts to anything else for very long.

I've just discovered that my lovely, 14-year-old daughter is a shoplifter, and has been for some time. Abby, it's as though I have two daughters. One I know, and the other is a stranger to me.

I have always tried to keep the lines of communication open. My husband and I have always tried to teach our children to be honest and law-abiding. I can't understand what went wrong. What could cause a girl who never wanted for anything, and was raised in a good Christian home to go into a store and steal? Where could she have gotten her criminal tendencies? She is going into counseling today as she refuses to talk to me about it. I pray she can be helped. I want her to grow into a beautiful young woman — inside as well as out.

Have you any words of comfort for me?

DESPAIRING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't despair. Your daughter won't talk to you about it because she is too ashamed. She knows how deeply she has disappointed you. Young shoplifters do not necessarily have "criminal tendencies." They sometimes steal for the "thrill" of getting away with something, or to impress their peers with their "courage."

Professional counselors are trained to help children understand their anti-social behavior, and many young shoplifters have matured into respectable, lawabiding citizens.

How Are You At Bidding?

By B. JAY BECKER

You are the dealer and open One Club. Partner reponds One Diamond. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ KJ6 ♥ AQ ♦ 9874 ♣ QJ95 2. ♠ AK8 ♥ 10 ♦ QJ93 ♣ AQ962 3. ♠ AQ4 ♥ AJ ♦ Q5 ♣ KQJ843 4. ♠ 9 ♥ AQ96 ♦ K82 ♣ AKQJ6

1. One notrump. It is rare not to raise partner at once with four-card trump support, but here it is better to suppress the raise in favor of the more illuminating rebid of a notrump.

This tells partner you opened with minimum values and a balanced hand, which is exactly what you are looking at. Two diamonds would suggest distributional values - for example, five clubs, four diamonds and a singleton in one of the major suits - and would also be more forward-going. The rebid of a notrump paints a far better picture of your actual

2. Three diamonds. Here you have better diamonds and. furthermore, values well beyond a minimum opening bid. Both these features are well expressed by the double raise. The jump raise is not forcing and partner may pass, but in that case there is almost surely

An alternative bid of one spade is also available - to ar enterprising player. There is considerable merit in such a call, as the all-around shape of the hand can be better described later on with a jump raise in diamonds. However, it is always dangerous to bid a three-card suit, for partner may be caught unawares, and run wild. But in a flexible part nership, a spade bid may easily turn out best.

3. Three notrump. You can't sensibly stop under game, and you shouldn't risk any bid that might leave you high and dry in an under-game contract.

What sometimes happens in this situation is that the opening bidder jumps to two notrump or three clubs - neither of which is forcing - and screams bloody murder when his impoverished partner passes. It is far better to take the strain off partner by jumping directly to three notrump - investing in the trusty principle of bidding what you think you can make.

4. Two hearts. This is 100 per cent forcing, as it is a jumpshift. Game is extremely likely when you have 19 high-card points plus the facility to play for game in hearts, diamonds or clubs, as partner sees fit. Furthermore, partner does not need a great big hand for a slam to be made, and he should be informed of this delicious possibility right away.

Go-Go Contest Ruling Reversed

The Nebraska Supreme Court

Thursday reversed a lower court's decision that the state's contributing to the delinquency of a minor statute is unconstitutional even in cases where technically no other laws were broken.

The ruling was handed down in a case appealed from the Platte County District Court in which charges filed under the statute against Edward Mariona Cailkowski, also known as Edward Hall, were dismissed.

In the case, Hall talked two Fremont girls into entering an amateur go-go contest and partially disrobing at a Columbus Lounge in 1973. The matter was observed by a state patrolman who was monitoring the event for possible law violations.

Charges for contributing to the delinquency of a minor were filed but were dropped on the grounds it was determined those statutes were unconstitutionally overboard if they allowed a person to be convicted of a crime even though go-go dancing wasn't a crime.

Go-Go Contest Ruling Reversed

The Nebraska Supreme Court anticipate." Thursday reversed a lower court's decision that the state's contributing to the delinquency of a minor statute is unconstitutional even in cases where technically no other laws were broken.

The ruling was handed down in a case appealed from the Platte County District Court in which charges filed under the statute against Edward Mariona Cailkowski, also known as Edward Hall, were dismissed.

In the case, Hall talked two Fremont girls into entering an amateur go-go contest and partially disrobing at a Columbus Lounge in 1973. The matter was observed by a state patrolman who was monitoring the event for possible law violations.

Charges for contributing to the delinquency of a minor were filed but were dropped on the grounds it was determined those statutes were unconstitutionally overboard if they allowed a person to be convicted of a crime even though go-go dancing wasn't a crime.

Protection of Children

The Supreme Court said in reversing "these statutes are intended for the protection of children. Being children they are not yet capable of mature judgment and require the protection of society.

The high court admitted there is a lot of latitude in the states,

However, the court reasoned, criminal. "the ways in which a child may delinquent or immoral are mul- cluded.

Special supervision of the two girls was the result of their participation in the contest, the court said, and therefore the charges against Hall were justified and a determination of guilt should have been reached without questioning the validity of the law.

The matter was sent back to the lower court for further proceedings.

Dissent Voiced

However, Judge Hale McCown dissented with his six colleagues on the Supreme Court bench.

He noted no criminal activity was involved and he also noted "time after time this court has struck down statutes as unconstitutional because of indefiniteness.

Further, he said there's no question that laws can be passed to protect minors which would pass constitutional muster.

But, McCown said, "in the face of that fact, it is wholly unrealistic to hold, as this court now does, that any unspecified conduct becomes criminal simply because it offends the sense of decency, propriety and morality of any particular jury or judge."

He said the only justification for such a stand would be on "the assumption that all persons agree on what conduct is immoral and what conduct is not and that no citizen needs to be particularly in regards to Hall's told that conduct will make him not only a sinner but also a

High Court Upheld Denial Of Damages For Injuries

By United Press International Lubash and Rodney Newill in connection The State Supreme Court Thursday upheld a Lancaster County District Court decision to deny damages for injuries suffered by a 5-year-old Lincoln girl who was struck by a car.

The suit was brought by Larry G. Korbelik on behalf of his daughter, Jamie, alleging that Julie E. Johnson, the driver of the car was negligent and therefore liable for damages.

The case was heard by a jury and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the driver. Korbelik appealed.

The Supreme Court, however, said there simply was no direct evidence to support the negligence claim nor was there evidence to refute the driver's contention the accident was caused when the youngster darted into the street.

The accident occurred at a school crosswalk on Holdrege St. In other cases the Supreme

Star Staff Writer The Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry Thursday marched into battle

sharply increase state corporation income taxes. In a letter mailed to its members, NACI urged businessmen to contact state senators asking them to oppose the bill and to "take a second look at the spending proposals" now under consideration in the Unicameral.

"Nebraska's economy is hurting." the letter stated. And a graduated corporation income tax is "neither a proper nor a wise method of helping to raise revenue to meet an excessive level of spending requests.'

Confrontation Seen NACI's call to battle signals what is likely to be a major legislative confrontation over corporation tax rates.

The Legislature's revenue committee has endorsed a bill (LB123) which would increase the tax rate for all but the smallest corporations, and raise against proposed legislation to an additional $14 million in revenue by the end of the next fiscal year.

Despite published reports to the contrary, Gov. J. James Exon has not endorsed the proposal, he said Thursday. In fact, he said, he is fearful that it will be used as "a magnificent carrot" to encourage legislative spending proposals. Exon For It . . . If

If the Legislature would earmark funds from the new revenue to eliminate the sales tax on food or to reduce the reliance on personal income taxes, "I would be for the bill," Exon said.

At least $8 million would be needed to wipe out the food tax, he said.

If the measure is to be used as

DRIVE ... led by Curtis, Humphrey.

Senators Plan Bill To Honor Norris

Seas Carl Curtis and Hubert Humphrey are spearheading a drive, mounted by Nebraska's rural electric systems, to have the Interior Department take over the McCook home of the late George W. Norris for a national historic site.

The senators will introduce a bill in the Congress to enable the interior secretary to acquire the Norris home, as well as nearby property, to establish a "George W Norris Home National Historic Site

According to their Washington offices, the senators are trying to obtain about 40 senators for their bill

A similar bill will be introduced in the House by Congressworaan Virginia Smith.

Two Vebraska state senators, Jules Burbach of Crofton and Richard Lewis of Holbrook, recently joined a party of Nebraskans from McCook and the Nebraska Rural Electric Association to campaign among congressmen in Washington for the proposal

Norris was a member of Congress for 40 years and was the legislator most responsible for formation of the Rural Electrification Administration

Records On Animals Proposal Draws Fire

A hearing on State Depart- Blood samples are taken from ment of Agriculture Animal Disease Control regulations Thursday produced the usual provisions by sale barns and veterinarians

Representatives of the auction markets and veterinarians who work in the markets offered to send all records to the State Department of Agriculture, but objected to keeping the records in their offices, citing added cost and space problems

The only other area in the hearing that produced objections was a requirement that sows and boars be tatooed before they are sold for slaughter.

The program is designed to be a check on swine brucellosis.

Crop Cutback Meeting Set

A meeting sponsored by the farm organizations of Lancaster County will be held in the Gateway Auditorium Monday, April 7, at 8 p m, to discuss the proposed voluntary cutback of erop production by 20%.

Lloyd Oliver, farm broadcaster for LOLN-KGIN TV, is to be moderator of the meeting. Sponsoring organizations include the Farmers Union, the Grange, the Corn Growers, the National Farmers Organization and the Farm Bureau.

Terry Schrick of the Nebraska Pork Producers explained that the regulations were developed because California had indicated it would ban the importation of Nebraska hogs unless a control program was developed.

They are about 20% of our market for hogs so the program is an important one," Schrick

The complete set of regulations covers a number of diseases in hogs, cattle, sheep and poultry. Most of the rules apply to people in the business of buying and selling livestock.

Department officials said the record of the hearing would be held open until April 10 for additional comments from people who were unable to attend the meeting Thursday because of bad weather. Copies of the regulations, which will replace present rules and regulations, are available from the State Department of Agriculture upon request.

Officials estimate that it will take a month to process the testimony from the hearing and publish the new regulations after which the new rules will become

Farm Disaster Payments Hit $97 Million In 2 States

Nebraska and Iowa have received more than $97 mullion in disaster payments under a program launched last year to stimulate all-out crop production, according to officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and

Conservation Service. Paun Sindt, executive director of the ASCS in Nebraska, said Nebraskans had received $61,- 350,000 as of March 20. The program was designed to protect growers from financial repercussions of natural dis- ting to qualify did not.

Omaha (AP) - Farmers in asters. Spring flooding, drought, hail storms and an early freeze last year combined to make farmers eligible for more than 58,000 payments in the two Sindt said his office had paid 30,550 requests out of more than 50,000 applications received.

He said requests covering 15,-300 farms have been denied and there still are 2,252 applications not yet processed.

He said some farmers expec-

Basically, Exon said, he believes the corporation tax rate "could be raised somewhat ... corporations are getting off quite makers with a bill to boost the well under our present tax struc-

But for now, he said, he will "reserve judgment" on the bill. Current Rate As amended by the committee, the bill would retain the current tax rate (which is 25% of the personal income tax rate) on the first $25,000 of a corporation's taxable ancome.

But that current rate, which now applies to all taxable corporation income, would be boosted to 35% of the personal income tax rate for the next $50,-000 of taxable income, and to 45% of the personal income tax rate for taxable income exceeding $75,000.

Sen. Orval Keves of Springfield, sponsor of the bill, says it would boost corporate tax receipts for fiscal 1975-76 by $12.4 million.

Bili Retroactive Since the bill has been amended to make the change retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, it would also boost corporate tax revenue by $1.3 million for fiscal personal income tax rate to 13%, retroactive to Jan. 1. That, together with retention of the 21/2% state sales tax rate, would fund his $340 million state tax budget, the governor has said.

If enacted, Keyes says, it could

Exon has presented law-

11%, retroactive to Jan. 1.

The corporation income tax rate is smaller than the personal income tax rate because the former is applied against taxable income while the latter is levied against federal tax liability. Corporate Rate 2.5%

Using the current formula, the tax rate on all corporation income is 2.5%, or 25% of the 10% personal income tax rate.

If the personal rate were boosted to 13%, and LB123 also became law, corporation rates would jump to 3.25% for the first $25,000, to 4.55% for the next $50,000 and to 5.85% for taxable income exceeding $75,-

NACI has "no objection" to LB589, the governor's proposal to boost the personal income tax rate from 10% to 13%, even though it would also hike the corporation tax rate from 2.5% to 3.25%, the letter stated.

Nebraskans Join In Bill Opposition

The Nebraska Natural Resources Commission Thursday went on record as opposed to proposed federal legislation defining water rights on federal lands.

Commissioners unanimously endorsed a lengthy list of objections to a bill as drafted by the U.S Department of Justice The lsit of objections was drawn up by the Interstate Conference on Water Problems and sent to the states for their comment.

Dayle Williamson, executive secretary of the commission. said the comments will be passed on to Gov J James

Jim Cook, commission attorney, said the proposed bill quantifies the federal government's rights to surface and groundwaters on reservations, national parks and forests.

The bill would quantify the federal government's rights to use certain amounts of water for soundly against the bill."

specific purpoees regardless of whether the federal government has exercised those rights.

"It has the potential of creating new rights to water, Cook explained.

The bill would have little direct effect on Nebraska, since the federal government owns only 3% of the land in Nebraska.

Indirectly, however, it could have a significant impact because of the large amounts of federal land upstream from Nebraska in Wyoming and Colorado. Thus, Cook said it creates the potential for upstream depletion of water which would normally flow into

Williamson said the bill has not been introduced but has been circulated for comments. which he noted is somewhat unusual. "This will be one federal bill

Special Prosecutor Is Limited In Range

Omaha (AP) - The special prosecutor named by Gov J. James Exon for the Douglas County grand jury will have the same powers as the county attorner but a limited area of inquiry, Presiding District Court Judge James Buckeley said.

Buckley said James M Knapp of Kearney will temporarily replace County Atty Donald Knowles, who has been advising the grand jury since it began sitting Jan. 20.

However, by law, Knapp will work with the grand jury only as it investigates "official acts of county officials." When 'the focus shifts elsewhere, Buckley said, Knowles and his designated deputies will again take

State law requires that the county attorney and his deputies be "excluded from the presence of the grand jury" when it is looking into the actions of county officials. Knapp visited Omaha and met separately with Buckley and Knowles. He declined to discuss his role.

Corporate Tax Hike Opposed Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Association of sharply increase state corporation income taxes.

In a letter mailed to its members, NACI urged businessmen to contact state senators asking them to oppose the bill and to "take a second look at the spending proposals" now under consideration in the Unicameral.

"Nebraska's economy is hurting," the letter stated. And a graduated corporation income tax is "neither a proper nor a wise method of helping to raise revenue to meet an excessive level of spending requests."

Confrontation Seen NACI's call to battle signals what is likely to be a major legislative confrontation over corporation tax rates.

The Legislature's revenue "just another means of incommittee has endorsed a bill (LB123) which would increase Commerce and Industry the tax rate for all but the Thursday marched into battle smallest corporations, and raise against proposed legislation to an additional $14 million in revenue by the end of the next fiscal year.

Senators Plan Bill To Honor Norris

Sens. Carl Curtis and Hubert Humphrey are spearheading a drive, mounted by Nebraska's rural electric systems, to have the Interior Department take over the McCook home of the late George W. Norris for a national historic site.

The senators will introduce a bill in the Congress to enable the interior secretary to acquire the Norris home, as well as nearby property, to establish a "George W. Norris Home National Historic Site.

According to their Washington offices, the senators are trying to obtain about 40 senators for their bill.

A similar bill will be introduced in the House by Congresswoman Virginia Smith.

Two Nebraska state senators, Jules Burbach of Crofton and Richard Lewis of Holbrook, recently joined a party of Nebraskans from McCook and the Nebraska Rural Electric Association to campaign among congressmen in Washington

stituting more spending on more fund the governor's budget projects," the governor said, he will oppose it.

Basically, Exon said, he believes the corporation tax rate "could be raised somewhat ... corporations are getting off quite well under our present tax structure.

But for now, he said, he will "reserve judgment" on the bill. Current Rate

As amended by the committee, the bill would retain the current tax rate (which is 25% of the personal income tax rate) on the first $25,000 of a corporation's taxable income.

But that current rate, which now applies to all taxable corporation income, would be boosted to 35% of the personal income tax rate for the next $50,-000 of taxable income, and to 45% of the personal income tax rate for taxable income exceeding $75,000.

Sen. Orval Keyes of Springfield, sponsor of the bill, says it would boost corporate tax receipts for fiscal 1975-76 by $12.4 million.

Bill Retroactive

amended to make the change retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, it would also boost corporate tax revenue by $1.3 million for fiscal

If enacted, Keyes says, it could recommendations with only a slight increase in the personal income tax rate - from 10% to 11%, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Exon has presented lawmakers with a bill to boost the personal income tax rate to 13%, retroactive to Jan. 1. That, together with retention of the 21/2% state sales tax rate, would fund his $340 million state tax budget, the governor has said.

The corporation income tax rate is smaller than the personal income tax rate because the former is applied against taxable income while the latter is levied against federal tax liability. Corporate Rate 2.5%

Using the current formula, the tax rate on all corporation income is 2.5%, or 25% of the 10% personal income tax rate.

If the personal rate were boosted to 13%, and LB123 also became law, corporation rates would jump to 3.25% for the first $25,000, to 4.55% for the next $50,000 and to 5.85% for taxable income exceeding $75,-

NACI has "no objection" to Since the bill has been LB589, the governor's proposal to boost the personal income tax rate from 10% to 13%, even though it would also hike the corporation tax rate from 2.5% to 3.25%, the letter stated.

The Nebraska Natural Resources Commission Thursday went on record as opposed to proposed federal legislation defining water rights on federal lands.

Commissioners unanimously endorsed a lengthy list of objections to a bill as drafted by the U.S. Department of Justice. The lsit of objections was drawn up by the Interstate Conference on Water Problems and sent to the states for their comment.

Dayle Williamson, executive secretary of the commission, said the comments will be passed on to Gov. J. James

"It has the potential of creating new rights to water," Cook explained. The bill would have little

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York - IRA, child of the new pension reform bill, has a lot of potential. Known more formally as Individual Retirement Account, it offers taxsheltered savings to people not covered by pensions or profitsharing. That includes nearly every working person at one point or another in his career. James McKinney, pension specialist for the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, notes these situations where you can get a big tax break from IRA. while saving money for your job and aren't yet covered by a company pension, you can stash your own money into a taxsheltered IRA. As soon as you qualify for the regular pension plan, your IRA will go into the deep freeze. But whatever money you already put into it will go on building, tax free, until vour retirment (It's still an open question whether you can deliberately opt out of the company plan and keep adding to your IRA instead.)

fairly often, never staying long enough in one company to be eligible for regular pension benefits, an IRA would fill the is deducted from your annual gross income when figuring taxes. For example, if you make $15,000 and put away $1,500, you pay taxes as if your salary that year had been only $13,500. Depending on your income level, an IRA deduction could lower vour tax bracket. come tax-free. Barron's, the financial newspaper, recently published these figures to show what an IRA can mean to a couple with a taxable income of $15,000 (which is the 25% tax bracket):

With an IRA, you can put away an untaxed $1,500 a year. If you had to pay taxes on that amount before putting it into retirement savings, you'd be able to save only $1,125 a year. Over 25 years, therefore, you can contribute $37,500 to an IRA account, but only $28,125 to an after-tax account.

Assuming an average annual growth of 8% over that period (and deducting federal taxes on the amount earned in unsheltered savings), the advantage becomes even more striking. The IRA will be worth $123,000, while regular savings would net you only $66,780.

Of course, the IRA fund will eventually be reduced by taxes (at ordinary income rates on the amount distributed each year). But you'd still be way ahead. You can begin withdrawing money from an IRA anytime between ages 591/2 to 701/2 earlier if you're completely dis-

Banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, mutual funds and insurance companies will be selling IRAs. The government is even offering a special 6% retirement bond. But the market will have to develop a little more before you'll be able to get a good handle on comparative costs. (c) 1975. The Washington Post Company

Employment In G.I. Ahead Of Last Year

Grand Island (AP) - While unemployment may be up this year in Grand Island, so is employment.

John R Lincoln, manager of the Nebraska Job Service office here, said Thursday that a January survey of employers showed a total of 16,488 persons employed While that figure was down from the 17.139 figure of last July, it was 101 above the 16.387 persons listed as employed in Grand Island in January 1974 The January total also was the third highest monthly figure on shippers and the general public record. topped only by the 16.957 for contributions to the trust shown in January 1968, when employment at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant was near the 5,000 mark, and the 16.596 in January 1973 before the plant was shut down July totals consistently have run ahead of January figures because of seasonal work. The July record was 17,737 in 1968. followed by 17,185 in 1969.

Texas Firm Most of the Rock Island's To Build Plant At Sutherland

Columbus (AP) - The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) board of directors has awarded a giant general construction contract totaling $67.7

National was the lowest of five bidders in the competition for the contract on the 650,000kilowatt, coal-burning plant, which is slated for completion by the summer of 1978.

The market's strongest period of the day came in the early going, when the Dow rose more than 6 points after the Commerce Department reported that the nation's exports exceeded imports by $917 million last month

That record figure was attained with the help of a sharp dropoff in costly oil imports. Once the early buying subsided, prices moved aimlessly in a narrow range for most of the remainder of the session.

There was a slight upsurge at mid-afternoon on the news that the government's index of leading economic indicators rose in February, ending a string of six consecutive monthly declines.

But the effect of that news was diluted by a government official's report that an extensive revision was planned soon for the index, which is designed to point up future economic trends.

Analysts said the market seemed to be drawing support from continued buying by investing institutions putting the last touches on their portfolios before the first quarter reporting date next Monday.

The markets will be closed for Good Friday.

Hog, Cattle Prices Up OMAHA, Neb (AP)-Thursday wrapped up a most interesting week of trade on the Omaha livestock market.

Sellers generally wore smiles as barrows and gifts gained $1.00 in the four sessions, while cattle picked up $3.00-$4.00, and cows gained $1.50-$2 00.

However, three of the 'our sessions saw short run ue to stormy weather, and next Monday's trade should prove even more interesting, as full compliments of hogs and cattle are expected. Some observers feel cutbacks in cattle herds over the past six months may now be making themselves felt with smaller

Tax-Sheltered Savings Offered By New Plan

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York — IRA, child of the new pension reform bill, has a lot of potential. Known more formally as Individual Retirement Account, it offers taxsheltered savings to people not covered by pensions or profitsharing. That includes nearly every working person at one point or another in his career. James McKinney, pension specialist for the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, notes these situations where you can get a big tax break from IRA, while saving money for your retirement:

job and aren't yet covered by a company pension, you can stash your own money into a taxsheltered IRA. As soon as you qualify for the regular pension plan, your IRA will go into the deep freeze. But whatever money you already put into it will go on building, tax free, until your retirment. (It's still an open question whether you can deliberately opt out of the company plan and keep adding to your IRA instead.)

gross income when figuring taxes. For example, if you make $15,000 and put away $1,500, you pay taxes as if your salary that year had been only $13,500. Depending on your income level, an IRA deduction could lower your tax bracket. And not only do you build your IRA with pretax dollars, it accumulates in-

Barron's, the financial newspaper, recently published these figures to show what an IRA can mean to a couple with a taxable income of $15,000 (which is the 25% tax bracket):

With an IRA, you can put away an untaxed $1,500 a year. If you had to pay taxes on that amount before putting it into retirement savings, you'd be able to save only $1,125 a year. Over 25 years, therefore, you can contribute $37,500 to an IRA account, but only $28,125 to an after-tax account.

Assuming an average annual growth of 8% over that period (and deducting federal taxes on the amount earned in unsheltered savings), the advantage becomes even more striking. The IRA will be worth $123,000, while regular savings would net you only $66,780.

Of course, the IRA fund will eventually be reduced by taxes (at ordinary income rates on the amount distributed each year). But you'd still be way ahead. You can begin withdrawing money from an IRA anytime between ages 59½ to 70½ earlier if you're completely dis-

Banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, mutual funds and insurance companies will be selling IRAs. The government is even offering a special 6% retirement bond. But the market will have to develop a little more before you'll be able to get a good handle on comparative costs. (c) 1975, The Washington Post Company

Employment In G.I. Ahead Of Last Year

Grand Island (AP) — While unemployment may be up this year in Grand Island, so is employment.

John R. Lincoln, manager of the Nebraska Job Service office here, said Thursday that a January survey of employers showed a total of 16,488 persons employed. While that figure was down from the 17,139 figure of last July, it was 101 above the 16,387 persons listed as employed in Grand Island in January 1974.

The January total also was the third highest monthly figure on record, topped only by the 16,957 shown in January 1968, when employment at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant was near the 5,000 mark, and the 16,596 in January 1973 before the plant was shut down.

July totals consistently have run ahead of January figures because of seasonal work. The July record was 17,737 in 1968, followed by 17,185 in 1969.

Texas Firm To Build Plant At Sutherland

Trade Surplus New York (AP) -News Boosts Stock Prices Sales: 18,300,000

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market ran its latest winning streak to three days Thursday, edging upward on the news of a record U.S. trade surplus in February. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 4.07 to 770.26, completing a three-session jump of more than 26 points. The Dow finished the holiday-shortened week with a 7.20-point gain.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index added .26 to 83.85, and the New York Stock Exchange composite index was up .15 at 44.46.

Gainers outpaced losers 826 to 578 among the 1,794 issues traded on the NYSE.

Big Board volume, at 18.30 million shares, was off slightly from Wednesday's 18.58 million

The market's strongest period of the day came in the early going, when the Dow rose more than 6 points after the Commerce Department reported that the nation's exports exceeded imports by $917 million

That record figure was attained with the help of a sharp dropoff in costly oil imports. Once the early buying subsided, prices moved aimlessly in a narrow range for most of the remainder of the session.

There was a slight upsurge at mid-afternoon on the news that the government's index of leading economic indicators rose in February, ending a string of six consecutive monthly declines.

But the effect of that news was diluted by a government official's report that an extensive revision was planned soon for the index, which is designed to point up future economic trends.

Analysts said the market seemed to be drawing support from continued buying by investing institutions putting the last touches on their portfolios before the first quarter reporting date next Monday.

The markets will be closed for Good Friday.

Three blue chips which turned in strong showings made a substantial contribution to the Dow's gain-Sears, Roebuck, which rose 13/8 to 671/4: Union Carbide, up 13/4 at 581/8, and U.S. Steel, ahead a point at 581/2.

Eli Lilly, the Big Board volume leader, fell 134 to 7134 in trading that included a 332,000share block at 71.

Polaroid, also active, slipped 3/8 to 243/8. A Wall Street Journal analysis of the company's annual report said its 1974 earnings might have shown a larger decline than they did had it not been for a lower effective tax

Other glamors were mostly lower as well, with IBM down 23/8 at 2071/2; Burroughs off 13/8 at 90%; Texas Instruments 11/8 lower at 921/2, and Xerox down 11/4 at 713/4.

Mountain Fuel Supply, which announced completion of an oil well and a gas well in southwestern Wyoming, jumped 21/4

Goldfield Corp., the American Stock Exchange's most active issue, gained 1/8 to 15/8.

The Amex market-value index rose .11 to 80.01.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite index closed at 76.18, up .62.

Diligent Work Keeps Burrus On Jumpers' Leader List THE LINCOLN STAR -

Prep Sports Editor

Break a leg is a theatrical term. Jeff Burrus turned it into a motivational one.

The Norfolk senior suffered a broken leg last August, prompting all kinds of negative thoughts and predictions.

"It hurt our football team severely," acknowledges Norfolk track coach Gene Whealy. "But, looking back, it could have been a blessing in disguise. Our football team intended to build around him at I-back, but track is really his first love," says Whealy. "He's worked hard to build himself back up and appears to be even faster than last year." That extra speed already this season has earned Burrus a spot among Nebraska's all-time leading prep long jumpers. The defending state meet gold medalist leaped 23-61/2 last weekend in the UNO Indoor Meet. He ranks seventh on the all-time list and hopes improvement this spring will put him in company with three who have achieved 24 feet or better - Omaha Central's Gale Sayers, Lincoln High's Bobby Williams and Hastings' Mark

Reflecting to last August, Whealy was wondering if there was any way Burrus could duplicate last year's gold medalwinning effort of 22-10%.

"I was just hoping he could reach the same goals, but I guess Jeff had more faith than most people did," offered Burrus picked up a fumbled handoff. A teammate fell on him, causing a compound fracture in his left leg.

"He fractured a small bone in his lower leg and totally separated his ankle bone. The break made a V right out of related Whealy.

Burrus wore a cast for six weeks. "His first reaction was to get a walking cast," remembers Whealy, who adds: "The very day he got it off, he threw away his crutches. He used a cane and walked right up to the weight room."

Diligent work with the weights allowed Burrus to surprise everyone. Not only was he fully prepared for track season. He worked himself into shape by December and wrestled in every Norfolk mat meet.

Burrus, a well-built 6-2, 190-pounds, qualified for a third consecutive year for the state wrestling meet in the Class A 185-pound division.

"He's very competitive," Whealy observes. "His comeback has amazed everyone. I know his leg is still sore, but he won't baby it at all. I'm sure it hurts him more than he

Whealy points out that Burrus "uses his right leg as his takeoff leg. Most long jumpers use their left as the power leg. So, I guess if Jeff had to break his leg, at least he was fortunate it wasn't his right one."

The Norfolk coach is understandably cautious of indoor long jumping pits. "They're a little dangerous, so we've really watched it with Jeff," Whealy says.

Consequently, Burrus has taken only two official long iumps this season, achieving 22-71/2 nine days ago in an indoor meet at Midland College and the 23-61/2 at UNO.

"Those were his first and only jumps so far this season. When he got out that far, he passed the rest of the time," Whealy notes. "There was no sense taking any unnecessary

"It would be nice if Jeff only had to jump 12 or 13 times this season," Whealy says with a chuckle.

Burrus could use some extra rest. He is also a standout triple jumper and hurdler. Last year, he posted season bests of :14.5 in the 120 high hurdles and :19.9 in the 180 lows. 'We might try him a couple open 220's too," adds Whea-

ly. "He ran a :22.9 last year. It's been too cold to clock him in anything this year, but he appears to have gained speed." With the added speed, Burrus has set goals of 24 feet in the long jump, 46 in the triple jump, :14.5 in the highs and Whealy believes all are within reach. He's learned not to

'Jeff believes in himself," his coach stresses. "That's why he's been able to buck the odds and come back. He's earned a lot of respect and admiration around here. Everyone's pulling for him."

Nicklaus Soars Ahead Of Pack

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S. C. (UPI) - Well-rested Jack Nicklaus, tuning up for the Masters, Thursday took apart a course he helped design and grabbed a three-stroke lead in the opening round of the $200,000 Heritage Golf Classic.

The 35 - year - old "Golden Bear," playing in a stiff wind that sent many of the other competitors' scores soaring, shot a five-under-par 66 which he called, "under the conditions, one of my better rounds in the last couple of years.

Nicklaus won the Doral Open at Miami in his last outing two weeks ago, then spent last week with his family and "got in only two nine-hole rounds of golf. At that, that is a change. Usually, when I take a week off, my bags stay in the shed."

Nicklaus is playing in the Heritage, on the Harbourtown course he helped to design, as a tuneup for the Masters which is just two weeks away. That's when he'll be gunning for an unprecedented 15th major championship.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin, winner here in both 1971 and 1973, was in a five-way tie for second place at two-underpar 69 with Don January, Bruce Crampton, Tom Kite and Andy

South Africa's Gary Player, returning to the United States for the first time in more than six months and playing in his first tournament in about two months, had an even-par 71. Lee Trevino was at 73, Arnold Palmer had a 74 and defending champion Johnny Miller, the leading money winner on the tour this year and last, had a seven-over-par 78

"What can you say when you just played lousy?" asked

Nicklaus started off with a bogev at the first hole when he went into a bunker, then twoputted from filme feet. But he got a free drop because of an imbedded ball at the next hole and pitched to six inches of the cup for his first of seven birdies for the day. He made a 40-foot putt, a 30-foot putt and two 25foot putts during his opening round.

Nicklaus was yawning when he went into the interview room after his round.

"I'm still asleep," he said with a smile. "If I woke up, I probably wouldn't have shot that 66.

"I played reasonably well," he understated. "The wind was very difficult today. It was hard to pick the right club out of the bag." It was a tough day to play golf and I'm surprised scores were as low as they were."

But Nicklaus disagreed with those golfers who called Harbourtown "the toughest course on the tour."

"There are at least two or three other courses, Pinehurst, Firestone, Colonial, which are tougher," said Nicklaus, "But, under the conditions, the wind and all, I'd have to say that it played as one of the more difficult."

Kite, a 25-year-old Texan, said the wind gusted so much that it "sometimes meant a four-club change in less than five minutes. You just had to guess which club to use. You could have just flipped a coin and if it landed on its side, that probably would have been right.'

John Mahaffey and Tom Weiskopf, both at 70, were the only other golfers under par for the round. That meant only eight out of 102 entries broke par despite a star-studded field that included 26 of the top 27 money winners on this year's

SAN DIEGO (AP) — UCLA and Coach John Wooden can count on their basketball bonus this weekend in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament-a player named Marques John-

Milburn Has New Ambition

Because he's a professional, Rod Milburn will not win a second straight gold medal in the 110meter high hurdles at the Olympics in Montreal next year.

Although he still hopes to join the Los Angeles Rams as a wide receiver and the Rams say they'd still like to have him come to camp, that seems unlikely since Milburn was the Rams' 13th round draft choice in

If the National Football League club wouldn't meet his price then, why would it come to his terms now?

Just turned 25, the former Southern University star-now a headline attraction on the International Track Association tour-has a new ambition. He's thinking of trying to become an FBI agent. "I'm talking about after my athletic career is over," said Milburn, the world high hurdles record holder at 120 yards (13.0) and 110 meters (13.1). "After that, I think my future might be in some kind of law enforcement work. I'm giving serious consideration to seeking a position with the FBI. I believe I could be effective with them."

In his second year with the ITA, Milburn also is working as an assistant director of a drug program for the Department of Health at Baton Rouge, La.

"About 80 per cent of the youth crime in Baton Rouge is drug related," he said. "I think I relate to young people better than most other people do because of my athletic background. I think I have a broader scope, too, because I've traveled and competed all over the world."

An FBI career will have to wait, though, until he's through winning pro races.

Rated by most people as the greatest high hurdler of all time. the 6-1, 178-pound Lafayette, La., native was Track And Field News' Athlete of the Year in 1972 and 1973. Track And Field News is the bible of the sport.

Since turning pro last year, Milburn is unbeaten in 16 races, four of them this year.

In fact, he hasn't lost since the 1973 National AAU outdoor finals at Bakersfield, Calif. That gives him a 31 race victory streak.

"Nobody can make a living entirely out of pro track and that's why I have to supplement my income with other work," he said. "But pro track is good.

"It's something the young kids so pro football—and the Rams. can look forward to after the 1976 Olympics. It takes time to build interest up in a new professional sport. Look how long it took pro football to catch

"There are at least two or three other courses, Pinehurst, Firestone, Colonial, which are tougher," said Nicklaus. "But, under the conditions, the wind and all, I'd have to say that it played as one of the more difficult." Kite, a 25-year-old Texan, said the wind gusted so much that it "sometimes meant a four-club change in less than five minutes. You just had to guess which club to use. You could have just flipped a coin and if it landed on its side, that probably would have been right." John Mahaffey and Tom Weiskopf, both at 70, were the only other golfers under par for the round. That meant only eight out of 102 entries broke par despite a star-studded field that included 26 of the top 27 money winners on this year's

Johnson 'A Bonus' To UCLA

SAN DIEGO (AP) - UCLA and Coach John Wooden can count on their basketball bonus this weekend in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament-a player named Marques John-

"Anything Marques contributes will be considered a bonus," the 64-year-old coach said earlier in the season.

Johnson, now a sophomore, was the No. 1 reserve for the Bruins last year. And for this season only one starter returned, David Meyers.

Great things were expected from Johnson until an attack of hepatitis sent him to the hospital last fall. He was weak and underweight when he returned to the basketball court.

Gone from last year's Pacific-8 Conference champions were All-Americans Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes, plus guards Tommy Curtis and Greg Lee. Johnson was expected to step in as the

Instead, he saw limited service in a lineup with Ralph Drollinger, a 7-footer at center, Meyers and Richard Washington at forwards and Pete Trgovich and Andre McCarter at guards. That group won, but wasn't impressive. Johnson gained strength and Wooden shuffled his

So in the semifinal game at San Diego Saturday, Louisville will face Johnson and Meyers at forwards, Washington at center and Trgovich and McCarter at guards.

And if UCLA wins, the winner in the other semifinal game between Kentucky and surprising Syracuse must go against the same group with Drollinger as the No. 6 man.

"The doctors said effects of the ailment would last about a year." said Wooden of Johnson. "What he has done in the light of that is remarkable.

Johnson scored 35 points in leading the Bruins to a 89-75 victory over Arizona State last Saturday in the NCAA's West Regional at Portland, Ore. And the 6-6 forward says he isn't in the physical shape he enjoyed before hepatitis struck.

"It's the stamina," Johnson said. "It just isn't there."

Still he has paid the bonus, operating between 60 and 90 per cent of his full efficiency. His .553 shooting percentage is surpassed only by the .580 by Washington.

Wooden's teams have won nine NCAA titles, including seven in a row until North Carolina State beat them in a double overtime semifinal last year.

The veteran coach said this year's team lacked some of the raw talent of those in the past, but he has had more enjoyment coaching it as players absorb instruction so well. With a 26-3 record, the Bruins currently head The Associated Press poll, with Kentucky second, Louisville fourth and Syracuse sixth.

Royals Blank Houston, 2-0

By Associated Press

Kansas City pitcher Steve Busby walked the leadoff batter in the first inning Thursday, balked him to second and let him go to third on a wild pickeff throw.

After that, Busby was perfect. The Royals' right-hander struck out the side in the first and didn't allow a hit for seven innings as Kansas City blanked the Houston Astros 2-0 in an exhibition baseball game.

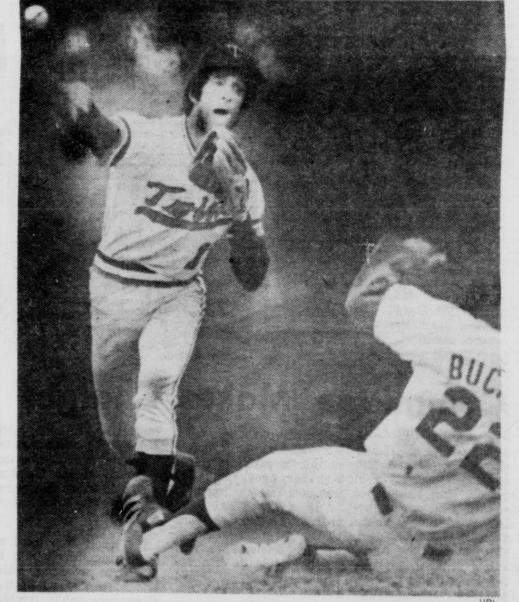

Reliever Lindy McDaniel was almost as good. Houston's only hit came in the ninth when catcher Skip Jutze singled.

Kansas City won the game in the fourth when Hal McRae walked and scored on Harmon Killebrew's double. Killebrew later crossed the plate on a single by Cookie Rojas. In other games Thursday, it was Boston 6, Chicago 1; Pittsburgh 7, Detroit 2; Baltimore 10, Philadelphia 1; Los Angeles 4, Minnesota 3; Texas 6, Atlanta 2; Cincinnati 4, New York Yanks 0. and Cleveland 8, San Francisco 6. California played a doubleheader, losing to the Oakland A's 7-1, then defeating the Chicago Cubs 8-3.

Willie Crawford led off the bottom of the 10th inning with a home run to lift the Los Angeles. Dogers over the Minnesota Twins. In posting their fourth straight victory and their 11th in the last 12 games, the Dodgers tied the score in the last of the ninth when Bill Buckner doubled home Rick Auerbach. Left-hander Don Gullett allowed only one hit in his seven-inning stint as Cincinnati blanked the Yankees. The Reds's 13th victory in their last 15 games came off Catfish Hunter, who gave up all four Cincinnati runs.

Minnesota Twins second baseman Sergio Ferrer throws out Los Angeles Dodger Bill Buckner during exhibition game.

Anderson Tops NFL Passing List

Ken Anderson of Cincinnati won the NFL passing championship. He had the league's best over-all rating with an effective mark of 959 last year on 213 completions in 328 attempts for 2,667 yards and 18 touchdowns with only 10 interceptions.

Anderson also led the AFC in completions, yardage, percentage of completions (64.9), average yards per attempt (8.13) and lowest percentage of interceptions (3.0).

Sonny Jurdgasen won his third passing championship in the NFC with a 94.6 rating on 107 completions in 167 attempts for 1,-185 yards and 11 touchdowns with five interceptions.

Jurgensen led the NFC in percentage of completions (64.1) and percentage of touchdowns (6.6).

All-America running back Tony Dorsett of the University of Pittsburgh was fined $1,145 in traffic court for failing to pay 99 overdue parking tickets.

Defensive lineman Dave Costa, center Nick Nighswander and defensive back Al Randolph were released by the Buffalo Bills. All three have cleared waivers and now are free agents.

Garrett Hunsperger, a former defensive lineman for the British Columbia Lions in the CFL, has been sentenced to two months in jail on two charges of assault.

Duke University athletic director Carl James announced the school renewed the contract of head football coach Mike McGee.

John Gurca, a middle guard from Joliet, Ill., signed a national letter of intent with Iowa State University. Gurca is also a heavyweight wrestler with a record of 106-2-5. Former St. Louis Cardinals free agent David Olivo won a $175,000 out-of-court settlement. His suit charged that he would have been at least a second-string quarterback had he not been hurt in an auto accident which ended his pro career. Chris Kupec, North Carolina football captain and quarterback. filed suit against the ACC and its commissioner, seeking a return to playing eligibility and $200,000 punitive damages.

Kupec contends that since he played only one game in the 1973 season because of injury, he should have another year of playing Roxie Ann Rice, self-proclaimed drug peddler to pro athletes, was fined $50 plus $23.50 court costs and one year's probation for using a credit card belonging to Redskins defen-

The Kansas City Royals cut pitchers Aurelio Lopez, George Throop and Hal Baird, reducing the team roster to 29 players, four above the opening day limit.

Nolan Ryan is still hampered by a torn right calf muscle and has missed one turn in the spring rotation because of it. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will present President Ford with a gold season pass good for all 1975 National and

Roger Freed, listed on the Cincinnati Reds' Triple-A American Association team, left the Reds' training camp, convinced he can't stick with the club.

HORSE RACING

Foolish Pleasure, winner of the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah, heads a field of nine entered for the Florida Derby, a major stepping stone to the Kentucky Derby. Horsemen called off their one-day boycott of Gulfstream

Park and entered 149 horses for Saturday's races, including the $125,000-added Florida Derby. The pacing colt Nero, beaten only once in 14 starts, and the juvenile trotting champion Bonefish have been ranked as the best 3-year-olds in North American Harness racing for 1975.

George Navonod is the possible favorite of the Santa Anita Derby, even though he hasn't won this year.

TENNIS

Billie Jean King has the best over-all percentage of any player in the World Team Tennis' first season with a .633 mark. She was 48-8 in singles and teamed with Julie Anthony for a 30-5 doubles record. She played in 896 games.

John Newcombe and Ken Rosewall struggled through three-set victories to advance to the semifinals of the $35,000 Tennis South Invitational Tournament.

Manuel Orantes and Jose Higueras advanced to the semifinals of the Monte Carlo Open Tennis Tournament.

· Six novices to pro sports, including a realtor and a meat packer, will head the new Boston Lobsters franchise in World Team Tennis. The new group bought the Philadelphia Freedoms and relocated the franchise.

OTHER SPORTS

The NBA all-star voters were right. Walt Frazier and Earl Monroe did the job for the Knicks. Between them, Frazier and Monroe accounted for 51 points, hitting 21 of the 28 field goal attempts, nine of 10 free throws, grabbed 16 rebounds and

Blass Given Release

The end the line came Thursday close relationship with Steve for Steve Blass, a pitcher who ever since he joined the organknew both World Series glory ization. Players of his caliber are and dismal failure with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

As he had throughout his tailspin from stardom to alsoran the past two years, Bass accepted the news that he was being placed on waivers philosphically.

"This is not a happy situation, but it's not the end of the world," the 32-year-old righthander said. "I have no regrets. "I think I've achieved everything I ever thought I could. even more than I thought I could. I have a great amount of pride in what I've done." General Manager Joe L.

Brown announced Blass' release at a news conference attended by Blass and Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Steve has been so much an integral part of the team for so long that it is a sad day in the history of the Pittsburgh Pirates," said Brown. Blass, a hero with two wins in the 1971 World Series when the Pirates defeated Baltimore, said it was unlikely he would latch on with another team. "I've always pitched for the Pirates and I don't have a hell of a lot of interest in pitching for someone else," he said.

It was an anguished moment for Murtaugh, who appeared to be choking back tears.

"It's very hard to make any statement at this time," the

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — manager said. "I've had a very hard to replace." Though the decision was diffi-> was not surprising. Blass himself saw it coming. His spring outings were disastrous: he had an 0-2 record and a 17.51 earned run average in 6 23 innings. "I keep trying and trying," be cult for Blass and the Pirates, it said earlier this spring. "But every time I'm out there it's embarrassing. 'But you're the same person, and how you are as a person, I think, is more important than how you are as a baseball play-His last outing was Tuesday against the Chicago White Sox.

For three innings he battled his control but pitched well. But in fourth inning when he walked in five runs and gave up a total of eight walks. Murtaugh put an end to the nightmare by walking to the mound, taking the ball from Blass and calling for a relief pitcher. Blass' release was discussed Wednesday in a meeting with Murtaugh and Brown, and before the 11 a.m. news conference Thursday, Blass said goodbyes to his teammates. Blass, signed as a free agent by the Pirates in 1960, joined the major league club briefly in 1964 and stuck with the team in 1966.

Anderson Tops NFL Passing List

FOOTBALL

Ken Anderson of Cincinnati won the NFL passing championship. He had the league's best over-all rating with an effective mark of 959 last year on 213 completions in 328 attempts for 2,667 yards and 18 touchdowns with only 10 interceptions.

Anderson also led the AFC in completions, yardage, percentage of completions (64.9), average yards per attempt (8.13) and lowest percentage of interceptions (3.0).

Sonny Jurdgnsen won his third passing championship in the NFC with a 94.6 rating on 107 completions in 167 attempts for 1,-185 yards and 11 touchdowns with five interceptions.

Jurgensen led the NFC in percentage of completions (64.1) and percentage of touchdowns (6.6). All-America running back Tony Dorsett of the University of Pittsburgh was fined $1,145 in traffic court for failing to pay 99 overdue parking tickets. Defensive lineman Dave Costa, center Nick Nighswander and defensive back Al Randolph were released by the Buffalo Bills. All three have cleared waivers and now are free agents. Garrett Hunsperger, a former defensive lineman for the British Columbia Lions in the CFL, has been sentenced to two months in jail on two charges of assault.

Duke University athletic director Carl James announced the school renewed the contract of head football coach Mike

John Gurca, a middle guard from Joliet, Ill., signed a national letter of intent with Iowa State University. Gurca is also a heavyweight wrestler with a record of 106-2-5.

Former St. Louis Cardinals free agent David Olivo won a $175,000 out-of-court settlement. His suit charged that he would have been at least a second-string quarterback had he not been hurt in an auto accident which ended his pro career.

Chris Kupec, North Carolina football captain and quarterback. filed suit against the ACC and its commissioner, seeking a return to playing eligibility and $200,000 punitive damages. Kupec contends that since he played only one game in the 1973 season because of injury, he should have another year of playing Roxie Ann Rice, self-proclaimed drug peddler to pro athletes, was fined $50 plus $23.50 court costs and one year's probation for using a credit card belonging to Redskins defensive back Ken Houston to pay a motel bill.

BASEBALL

The Kansas City Royals cut pitchers Aurelio Lopez, George Throop and Hal Baird, reducing the team roster to 29 players, four above the opening day limit.

Nolan Ryan is still hampered by a torn right calf muscle and has missed one turn in the spring rotation because of it. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will present President

Ford with a gold season pass good for all 1975 National and American League games. Roger Freed, listed on the Cincinnati Reds' Triple-A American Association team, left the Reds' training camp, con-

It's The UCLA Invitational

Well, the NCAA basketball tournament again has become the "UCLA Invitational" - that annual affair where the Bruins collect more hardware for the trophy cabinets in Westwood,

The Bruins are rated 4.5 favorites by professional oddsmakers, but playing almost in their own backyard (San Diego's International Sports Arena) should make Coach John Wooden's team a cinch for its 10th title in the past 12 seasons.

Irv Brown, who coaches baseball at Colorado and also is one of the nation's best basketball officials, thinks UCLA will be very difficult to beat.

After working a Bruin game against Davidson, in which UCLA won 91-66, Brown commented: "I don't think I've ever seen a UCLA team with better depth. Wooden has his kind of team again. This is a hungry bunch.'

UCLA is "physical" and really crashes the boards. "They just go to the boards and leap," Brown said. The key rebounders are Ralph Drollinger and Richard Washington, both hovering at or above the 7-foot mark, and rugged forward Dave Meyers.

Kentucky has size to battle the Bruins, but the Wildcats' two big men are just freshmen. Even in victory over Indiana last Saturday, this twosome of Mike Phillips and Rick Robey, both 6-10, had their problems with Hoosier sophomore Kent Benson, who is 6-11. Benson scored 33 points and took down 23 rebounds. It is easy to imagine what might happen when they have to battle both Drollinger and Washington for the ball. Of course, UCLA first must dispose of Louisville, the team coached by former Wooden assistant Denny Crum. The Cardinals are good and they're quick, but they've been inconsistent all season. It would take a super effort to beat UCLA.

Kentucky can afford the luxury of looking past Syracuse in the first round Saturday. Eastern-style basketball, however, can be deceptive. It's tough and aggressive, but so is Kentucky and the Wildcats have a tournament tradition.

Catching Up On Sports

The college baseball season is off and running, especially in the warm weather areas. Arizona State, Miami (Fla.), Texas, Southern California and Arizona are ranked in that order by Collegeiate Baseball newspaper as the nation's best teams.

Top-rated among Big Eight teams is Oklahoma, which has just about everybody back from last year's league championship team. The Sooners are the only Big Eight team receiving a vote in the poll the newspaper conducts.

Colorado sophomore basketball guard Brad Hunt has indicated he wants to transfer to the University of Denver. He's -Coach Sox Walseth's top outside shooter, but played most of the season as a backup to CU scoring leader Tony Lawrence.

Should Hunt leave the Buffalo camp, Walseth would have only two returning guards for next season, Jay Sferra and Rick Arguello. Guard, incidentally, wasn't a CU strength during the past season.

UCLA's basketball team is on a two-year probation. That's the UCLA women's club, which was barred from the AIAW (Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) national tournament because of the use of a graduate student in games.

Thinking about the Orange Bowl game next New Year's Day? Well, the price of tickets has gone up and all seats will cost $10. Officials of the bowl say 75 per cent of the increased revenue will go to the two colleges participating in the game.

of the four coaches.

.Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI) -Heavyweight boxer Ron Stander of Council Bluffs forfeited a $50 bond Thursday when he failed to appear in magistrate court on a public intoxication charge.

Police said Stander was arrested at the police station Wednesday night when words were exchanged on how to get him from his destination to the west end of the city.

The former "Bluffs Butcher", who lost to then champion Joe Frazier in a heavyweight title match, was stopped earlier driving his van because it had expired license plates.

Patrolman Brad Asay said Stander appeared "too intoxicated" to drive, but he was not charged with drunken driving.

Stander posted a $10 bond on the license plate charge and was scheduled to appear in magistrate court again Friday for a hearing on a charge filed after his arrest in the breakin of an adult bookstore in the Bluffs March 9.

Sports Signals

By Bob Owens Star Sports Editor

It's The UCLA Invitational

Well, the NCAA basketball tournament again has become the "UCLA Invitational" — that annual affair where the Bruins collect more hardware for the trophy cabinets in Westwood,

The Bruins are rated 4-5 favorites by professional oddsmakers, but playing almost in their own backyard (San Diego's International Sports Arena) should make Coach John Wooden's team a cinch for its 10th title in the past 12 seasons.

Irv Brown, who coaches baseball at Colorado and also is one of the nation's best basketball officials, thinks UCLA will be very difficult to beat.

After working a Bruin game against Davidson, in which UCLA won 91-66, Brown commented: "I don't think I've ever seen a UCLA team with better depth. Wooden has his kind of team again. This is a hungry bunch.'

UCLA is "physical" and really crashes the boards. "They just go to the boards and leap," Brown said. The key rebounders are Ralph Drollinger and Richard Washington, both hovering at or above the 7-foot mark, and rugged forward Dave Meyers.

Kentucky has size to battle the Bruins, but the Wildcats' two big men are just freshmen. Even in victory over Indiana last Saturday, this twosome of Mike Phillips and Rick Robey, both 6-10, had their problems with Hoosier sophomore Kent Benson, who is 6-11. Benson scored 33 points and took down 23 rebounds.

It is easy to imagine what might happen when they have to battle both Drollinger and Washington for the ball.

Of course, UCLA first must dispose of Louisville, the team coached by former Wooden assistant Denny Crum. The Cardinals are good and they're quick, but they've been inconsistent all season. It would take a super effort to beat UCLA.

Kentucky can afford the luxury of looking past Syracuse in the first round Saturday. Eastern-style basketball, however, can be deceptive. It's tough and aggressive, but so is Kentucky and the Wildcats have a tournament tradition.

Catching Up On Sports

The college baseball season is off and running, especially in the warm weather areas. Arizona State, Miami (Fla.), Texas, Southern California and Arizona are ranked in that order by Collegeiate Baseball newspaper as the nation's best teams.

Top-rated among Big Eight teams is Oklahoma, which has just about everybody back from last year's league championship team. The Sooners are the only Big Eight team receiving a vote in the poll the newspaper conducts.

Colorado sophomore basketball guard Brad Hunt has indicated he wants to transfer to the University of Denver. He's -Coach Sox Walseth's top outside shooter, but played most of the season as a backup to CU scoring leader Tony Lawrence.

Should Hunt leave the Buffalo camp, Walseth would have only two returning guards for next season, Jay Sferra and Rick Arguello. Guard, incidentally, wasn't a CU strength during the UCLA's basketball team is on a two-year probation. That's the UCLA women's club, which was barred from the AIAW (Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) national tournament because of the use of a graduate student in games.

Thinking about the Orange Bowl game next New Year's Day? Well, the price of tickets has gone up and all seats will cost $10. Officials of the bowl say 75 per cent of the increased revenue will go to the two colleges participating in the game.

Carner Leading Golf

PHOENIX (AP) - JoAnne Carner, returning to the Valley of the Sun for the first time since 1961, shot a five-under-par 67 Thursday to take a threestroke lead during the opening round of the $70,000 LPGA golf classic at cold, wind-swept Camelback Country Club.

Mrs. Carner, a former Arizona State University golfer who was money leader and player of the year for the Ladies Professional Golf Association in 1974, fashioned nines of 33 and 34 as she built a three-stroke lead over five women who created a logjam at two-under-

Betty Burfeindt, Palm Springs, Calif.; Kathy Ahearn, Arlington, Tex., and Jane Blalock, Highland, Fla., bracketed 35s for their two-under-par

Sally Little, the 23-year-old native of Cape Town, South Africa, was out in 36 and back in 34 for her 70.

Sharon Miller of Batle Creek, Mich, opened with a 37 but returned home in a blazing 33 to join the deadlock.

Joyce Kazmierski and Pam Higgins were next in line with one-under-par 71s.

Only eight of the record field of 108 broke par on a day which saw the cold wind blow at 15 miles per hour with gusts often higher. Four more matched great day for Mrs. Carner. The former JoAnne Gunderson from Lake Worth, Fla., started with three routine pars. She then eagled the 440-yard par five fourth hole, reaching within 30 feet of the cup with a drive and a five-iron shot and sinking the Lincoln East's Paul Forch and Lincoln Pius X's Don Kelley used to be rival basketball coaches, but each summer they join forces.

The pair of head coaches combine with East assistant Ed McPherron and Pius X aide Tim Anderson for the Lincoln Summer Basketball School at Pius X's gym.

The four coaches will offer five one-week basketball camps this summer for junior high and high school age boys and girls.

The first three sessions are for 7th, 8th and 9th grade boys. They include June 9-14, Juns 16-21 and June 23-28.

A one-week session for 4th, 5th and 6th grade boys is scheduled for July 7-12 and a session for 7th through 12th grade girls is set for July 14-19.

Forch is a former head South coach for the Nebraska Coaches Association All-Star Basketball Game. Kelley will direct the South team for this summer's all-star game. Each has coached a state championship team. Forch's East team winning Class A in 1971 and Kelley's Pius X club winning the 1974 Class B title. Registration details for this summer's camps can be obtained by calling or writing any of the four coaches.

Boxer Stander Forfeits Bond

.Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI) -Heavyweight boxer Ron Stander of Council Bluffs forfeited a $50 bond Thursday when he failed to appear in magistrate court on a public intoxication charge.

Police said Stander was arrested at the police station Wednesday night when words were exchanged on how to get him from his destination to the west end of the city.

The former "Bluffs Butcher", who lost to then champion Joe Frazier in a heavyweight title match, was stopped earlier driving his van because it had expired license plates.

Patrolman Brad Asay said Stander appeared "too intoxicated" to drive, but he was not charged with drunken

Stander posted a $10 bond on the license plate charge and was scheduled to appear in magistrate court again Friday for a hearing on a charge filed after his arrest in the breakin of an adult bookstore in the Bluffs March 9.

$5.5 Million Jolt Aids State Roads

Nebraska received a $5.5 million economic transfusion Thursday with the special award of U S Transportation Department money designed to stimulate economic growth in rural and small urban areas

Thomas Doyle, state roads director, said that he had just received notification of the special award.

The money will be used for road projects in the three areas of the state that have been designated by Gov J James Exon as growth center areas

Immediate Use Doyle said the Roads Department won't be wasting any time putting the money to use "The money will be used immediately," he said The growth areas designated by Exon include Norfolk, Scottsbluff and the Tri-City area of Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney From those areas. Doyle said four projects have been pulled from normal lettings and given priority in putting the $5.5 million to use He said the projects include

Highway 281 south of Grand Island, Highway 14 south of Clay Center, Highway 26 north and south of Bayard and Highway 14 north of Central City

Major Jobs He added that all the projects, to include new ones

Group's Polar Programs Robert H Rutford, director of

The director also said he thought it was significant that the award to Nebraska represents one-sixth of the total $30 million made available at this time for the economic growth center program He added that since 1970 Nebraska has received only $4.5 million in growth center money

The whole idea behind the federal program, Doyle said, is to promote and stimulate economic growth in the rural and small urban areas by providing the kind of highways that might attract industry from the more heavily populated

Up To $102 Million

In terms of the fiscal 1975 highway building program, Dovle said the additional $5.5 million in new money would place the total program funding level at $102 million

So far he said the state has obligated $87 million in federal highway money and an additional $15.2 million is expected to be obligated by June 30 including the $5.5 million

By getting the growth center money for those four projects, Dovle added that means the list of projects can now be expanded

Omahan Said To Be Charged In Murder

Omaha (UPI) - The Douglas County attorney's office said Thursday a murder charge would be filed against a suspect in the death of an Omaha man

Deputy County Atty Tom Brown said Brian L Taylor 27, Omaha would be charged in the death of Archie Lee Turnbaugh 20, Omaha

Turnbaugh's body was found partially covered with snow and with a bullet wound to the head at a north Omaha intersection early Monday Taylor was arrested at his central Omaha apartment about midnight Thursday following an all-night investigation by police The investigation began when Patrolman Gayle E Leenerts responded to a call from Taylor's former roommate Vance

Rogene related that Taylor had borrowed his car earlier in the day and had not returned it He also said that Taylor had borrowed his car Sunday night and returned it Monday with blood on the passenger side of

Police said they recovered Turnbaugh's watch and a 22caliber pistol believed used to kill Turnbaugh The two items were recovered from a north Omaha house

Proud To Tell For The Future

Omaha (AP) - Former State Sen Richard Proud of Omaha will hold a news conference here Saturday morning to announce his 'future political plans

When asked what office he is going to run for Proud, who served as the speaker of the Unicameral last year said Ill tell you then

Proud is Republican, did not seek re-election to the Legislature last year and his news conference announcement brought speculation that he may either announce his candidacy for the Senate seat now held by Sen Roman Hruska, or the seat in the U.S. House held by Rep. John Y McCollister

Both McCollister and Hruska are both Omaha Republicans McCollister has already given strong indication that he will seek Hruska's seat if Hruska decides to retire However, Hruska is keeping his plans

In addition, police said Turnbaugh s billfold and some personal papers were found in a ditch along I-80 in Iowa about five mules east of Omaha

$5.5 Million Jolt Aids State Roads

By United Press International

Nebraska received a $5.5 million economic transfusion Thursday with the special award of U.S. Transportation Department money designed to stimulate economic growth in rural and small urban areas.

Thomas Doyle, state roads director, said that he had just received notification of the special award.

The money will be used for road projects in the three areas of the state that have been designated by Gov. J. James Exon as growth center areas.

Immediate Use

Doyle said the Roads Department won't be wasting any time putting the money to use. "The mediately," he said.

The growth areas designated by Exon include Norfolk, Scottsbluff and the Tri-City area of Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney.

From those areas, Dovle said four projects have been pulled from normal lettings and given priority in putting the $5.5 million to use.

He said the projects include Highway 281 south of Grand Island, Highway 14 south of Clay Center, Highway 26 north and south of Bayard and Highway 14 north of Central City.

Major Jobs He added that all the projects, to include new ones

Dentist Pleads Guilty

Omaha (AP) - A Grand Island dentist pleaded guilty to for April 3. federal tax evasion charges in U.S. District Court here

Dr. Glen A. Hadenfeldt appeared before Judge Albert G. Schatz, pleading guilty to one count in a two-count indictment charging him with failing to file federal income tax returns for the years 1971 and 1972.

The Internal Revenue Service said Hadenfeldt had income in excess of $136,000 over the twovear period.

Attention:

Judge Schatz set sentencing ries a maximum penalty of a fine not to exceed $10,000, imprisonment for a term not to exceed five years, or both.

In addition, Hadenfeldt remains liable for the income taxes due, and any civil penalties determined due.

Overruling Of Firing Veto Sought

The State College Board of Trustees has asked the Nebraska Supreme Court to overturn a Lancaster County District Court decision and uphold the board's decision to fire a Chadron State College professor.

The board said in a brief filed with the court that a statute requiring a majority of the board members to fire a teacher does not apply to state college professors.

At a May 24, 1974 meeting, attended by four of the seven' board members, the trustees voted 3-1 to fire Dudley H. Chase. The board fired Chase because it wanted to end the foreign language program at Chadron.

Said Gloomy Paris (AP) - A 20% inflation rate, soaring unemployment and a generally depressed economy throughout 1975 were forecast for Britain on Thursday by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development

The gloomy forecast, contained in OECD's annual survey of the British economy, said unemployment may rise by the year's end to 950,000, or about 4.25% of the total labor force. In the last quarter of 1974, 608,000 were out of work, about 2.7% of the labor force.

Virtually the only bright spot in the report was a prediction that by 1980, oil from the North Sea would be contributing nearly $7 billion a year to the economy. OECD said the wells would bring in $800 million in 1976, the first profitable year, and would rise to $5 billion in 1978 and $6.9 billion in 1980.

Co-Op Store Reflects Tradition By JENNIFER KERR

Associated Press Writer

SPENCER, W. Va. (AP) -

The first newsletter for the infant Growing Tree Cooperative

Country Store starts off talking not about profits or moving merchandise or advertising, but about honesty. "The co-op is now a nonprofit store. This means a lot of things. More than anything, it means that we can all be honest with one another," the newsletter says. "Those who work in the store realize that their work goes towards making things better for everyone, not just one person or a handful of individuals. Traditional barriers are softened as the storekeeper and shopper are working towards common goals." In the herb-fragranced creaking woodenness of the store's second-floor rooms across from the modern new Roane County courthouse, traditional barriers seem nonexistent. Managers might or might not take their $50-a-week salary. Beans and pickles are not sold in plastic lass, but in wooden kegs.

board is full of pleading ads seeking good, cheap farmland. Shoestring groups of young persons, often banded together as cooperative "families," have found Vermont too expensive and flocked to West Virginia's hills, where they say land, although now soaring in price, is still perhaps the cheapest east of the Mississippi River. The year-old tale of Growing

Sheriff Refuses

Batavia, N.Y. (UPI) -Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner read recently that his publication had been banned from the Genesee County Jail in Batavia, N.Y., because the inmates fought over the magazine centerfolds.

So Hefner sent Sheriff Roy Wullich 150 centerfolds from the April edition of Playboy. An accompanying note read that he hoped the additional copies "would eliminate the problems." However, the inmates still won't be able to see "Miss April," because Wullich refused to distribute the copies.

"Some people think we're running a hotel or country club but we're running a jail," he said.

Rockefeller Sets Dinner Meetings

Washington (UPI) - Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller has scheduled four dinner meetings next month to mend fences with Republican senators still angry over his liberal rulings in the Senate filibuster fight, an aide said.

At the same time, Rockefeller will use the meetings to boost President Ford's economic and energy plans, and hopes to line up enough republicans to prevent the override of White House vetoes of key bills.

45-Year Doctor In Palmer Area, Racines, Dies

Palmer — Graveside services were held here Thursday for Dr. J. Y. Racines, 82, who had practiced medicine in the Palmer area for 45 years. He died Monday in a St. Paul nursing home.

Born and raised on Mindanao Island in the Philippines, Dr. Racines was graduated from Sillman University there. After coming to the U.S. he was graduated from the University of Nebraska School of Medicine in Omaha and interned at a Grand Island hospital before coming to Palmer.

Surviving are his wife, LaBelle; daughters, Mrs. Sandra Nogg and Mrs. Cynthia May, both of Omaha, and four grandchildren.

Said Gloomy Paris (AP) - A 20% inflation rate, soaring unemployment and a generally depressed economy throughout 1975 were forecast for Britain on Thursday by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

The gloomy forecast, contained in OECD's annual survey of the British economy, said unemployment may rise by the year's end to 950,000, or about

4.25% of the total labor force. In the last quarter of 1974, 608,000 were out of work, about 2.7% of the labor force. Virtually the only bright spot in the report was a prediction that by 1980, oil from the North Sea would be contributing nearly $7 billion a year to the economy. OECD said the wells would bring in $800 million in 1976, the first profitable year, and would rise to $5 billion in 1978 and $6.9
